IT IS DEDICATED

Splendid Building Opened Last Evening

BY THE Y. M. C. I. AND FRIENDS.

Eloquent Addresses and Enjoyable Musical Numbers.

Snugly ensconsed in a new, beautiful and commodious home, surrounded by all the attending comforts and enjoying the high esteem of the entire community, the members of the Y. M. C. I. of Belvidere felt justly proud as last night they reached the very zenith of their prosperous career and dedicated with happy exercises their handsome apartments.

It was indeed a happy occasion both for the young men and their friends and it was particularly happy for those two true friends of young men, Revs. Frs. Joyce, O. M. I., and Dacey, O. M. I., to whom they owe in a great measure their remarkable success. It was a happy occasion for the friends of the young men for with the opening of a new home they foresaw the intellectual, social and particularly the moral advancement of the Catholic youth of Belvidere.

The exercises were held in the assembly hall of the new building which is a cosy apartment admirably suited for such purposes. There were no decorations as the hall was a decoration in itself.

The seats on the stage were occupied by President Dwyer of the organization who appeared to be one of the happiest young men in the city, and Rev. Fr. Dacey, O. M. I., the spiritual director of the organization.

Among the invited guests who occupied seats of honor were the beloved pastor, Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., Mayor Courtney, License Commissioner Smith, Revs. Frs. McAvinue, Reynolds, Dorgan, Forget, McManus, Gagnon, Shaw of North Chelmsford and Murphy of Salem and many others.

At eight o'clock the exercises opened.

Rev. Fr. Dacey opened the exercises with an eloquent salutatory. He said: I welcome you dear guests to the opening of our new building. I can say no more, you are thrice welcome because you are our friends. To you fellow members I will not say welcome, you are at home. Hail our glory, hail our hope, welcome to you all tonight.

Then followed a vocal selection by Miss Mabel Ware rendered in an artistic manner. She was accompanied by Miss Theresa Corbett.

A quartet, Messrs. Haggerty, Martin, Murphy and Bouiger next rendered the harmonious selection "O Happy Fair" by Shield.

The presentation of the keys was then made by Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien of the building committee who reviewed the incidents leading to the erection of the handsome building. The committee extended its heartfelt thanks to the contractor and architect for their kindness and efficiency.

President John Dwyer responded. He said: "I wish to express my sincere thanks and gratitude to all who have helped us in our venture."

He then reviewed the career of the organization from its beginning. He highly complimented the earnest and untiring spiritual director, Rev. Fr. Dacey, O. M. I. He has watched carefully over our infant society and under his fostering care we have become an organization second to none of its kind in the state. I also wish to thank, he said, our kind pastor, who so generously assisted our spiritual director in his work. We also thank the Lowell public, which has so generously assisted us in all our undertakings. I accept with gratitude the keys of the beautiful building for the purpose for which it was built.

The next number on the program was the beautiful vocal selection "Barbara Fritchie" which was sung with great expression by the talented young soprano, Miss Adelaide A. Sullivan, who was obliged to respond to an encore for which she sang, "You" very prettily.

His Honor Mayor Courtney next addressed the meeting. His appearance was greeted with thunders of applause. The mayor said: "It gives me pleasure to be present at the dedication of this new building which stands as a monument to the intelligence and perserverance of the Catholic young men of our city. You may pass away but your beautiful work remains after you. The records of this society will for all time record the fact that of all the Catholic young men of this city you stood foremost in the march of progress.

You are happy in the pursuance of your noble work, in the possession of the two brightest ornaments in our Catholic clergy, Revs. Frs. Joyce and Dacey, who have labored zealously for you and to whom you owe a debt of gratitude which you can never pay.

The future of the nation depends on the young men of today. You should always be ready to bear the burdens of citizenship. The better educated you become; the better Catholics you become, the better citizens you will become. Remember the eyes of the city are upon you. Never do that which will bring dishonor upon the fair name of your noble society. I congratulate you for the success you have achieved."

The beautiful solo "Mona" was exquisitely rendered by Mrs. Dr. Walker, who sang for an encore, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

A duet for violin and piano by DeBeriot was the next number on the program and though a difficult composition it was very artistically rendered by Mr. Joseph P. O'Dwyer and Miss Harriet Courtney.

Prof. P. P. Haggerty was enthusiastically received as he appeared to sing that charming tenor solo, "King Witloff's Drinking Horn."

Following the professor came the Y. M. C. I. double quartet which rendered two selections very finely. The double quartet is comprised of eight pleasing voices.

Miss Margaret McCaffery rendered a captivating solo in her usual pleasing manner.

Prof. Haggerty and Mr. David Martin were next on the program in a duet, "Sir, a Secret" which they sang in a manner which brought forth great applause.

The duet was one of Rossini's difficult yet musical compositions and the rendition of it was charming.

The next number of the program was perhaps the gem of the evening. It was a recitation "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time in Thy Flight," a very pathetic selection and it was rendered with great force and expression by Miss Mary C. Joyce, Lowell's most promising young elocutionist. Miss Corbett accompanied upon the piano. Miss Joyce showed her remarkable versatility in the encore by giving a humorous selection. So charmed were the spectators with Miss Joyce's talent that they demanded a second encore for which she gave that delightful tone poem "Blow, Bugle, Blow."

Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien gave a baritone solo for the next number.

The congratulatory remarks were next on the program and the first one called was Frank J. Simonds the well known "Salmagundi"

Mr. Simonds said:

It is a gratifying privilege to say a few words of congratulation to the Young Men's Catholic Institute upon this happy occasion. I am glad to stand in the presence of the members of this Institute, the flower of the young manhood of Belvidere, and say to them, I congratulate you on what you have accomplished—mentally, morally and materially. And this congratulation is not entirely personal. I can safely say for my brethren of the press of Lowell that they, too, congratulate you—that they are proud of what you are and of what you have done—that they regard your society as one of the instrumentalities which are working for good in this community. Whatever help the press can give you in your work will be cheerfully and cordially extended.

You are to be congratulated, gentlemen, that the sphere of your influence is not confined to four walls of this building, nor to the bounds of Belvidere. Your influence is felt throughout the city, in public affairs as well as in private enterprises. Those of you who have been called to serve the city and state in public office have acquitted yourselves most creditably. You have served the public in a way to reflect honor upon this institute. And I am sure that those members who will hereafter be called to the public service will maintain the high standard established by the young men to whom I have referred.

My friends, you are to be congratulated for something more than the possession of a new building. You are to be congratulated on having for your guide, philosopher and friend, our good Father Dacey, to whose unselfish and untiring efforts the success you have achieved is in no small measure due.

Again I congratulate you young men, on the success which has crowned your efforts—a success which could not have been won unless you had been true to the principles on which your society is founded, and loyal to each other—working all for one and one for all. What you have accomplished is the natural result of loyal and united effort.

Loyalty is a cardinal virtue; disloyalty is base and ignoble. Be loyal to the faith which you profess; be loyal to the land in which you live; be loyal to yourselves and it will follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man.

The next speaker called upon was ex-Rep. Philip J. Farley who said: "It is for me a deep and an abiding pleasure to join in the dedication of your building. The first thought that crossed my mind as I crossed the threshold was that of admiration for this beautiful building situated as it is on the banks of the beautiful Merrimack and away from the toil and turmoil of the city. And the first word that came to my lips was congratulation to you young men and to you, beloved pastor under whose tender guidance our society has reached this point in its success. On such a night as this the memory of the past meets the bright promise of the future and is anticipated the grandeur of your future success.

"In our American civilization today the most potent and cogent preaching is the powerful preaching of example. By your example will the Catholic church of our community be judged. I hope that this institution will continue as it began, a place of social, moral, mental and physical advancement for the Catholic young man.

Mr. James E. Donnelly rendered the "Palms" very effectively at the conclusion of the congratulatory remarks.

The closing remarks were delivered by Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., who received an ovation. Said Fr. Joyce. The object of the Catholic institute for which many of you are members is to make young Americans, very angels of God. To do this we must ever remember our motto. "God and our neighbor." We shall make angelic youths of our young men for we shall unite them to the alter four times a year to partake of the Bread of life, the food of angels. We hope our young men by the good example they give will do good in the community in this work. Fr. Dacey and myself were one in heart and mind, what one proposed the other proposed. I congratulate them tonight and I will even work for their best interest. In conclusion, Rev. Fr. Joyce invited all to the bowling game between himself and Mayor Courtney.

Queer Religious Rites.

The little religious colony in Detroit whose members bear the titles of "Israelites" and "Flying Rollers," and whose chief apparent characteristic is their long hair, have been celebrating in a novel manner.

The other night they killed a sheep, spattered its fresh blood over the front door of one of the houses and then stood in a circle and chanted as the sheep was roasted on a spit.

Then the colony emerged on the streets and marched about blowing horns. At 4 o'clock in the morning the entire colony sat down to feast and ate the roasted sheep.

The neighbors said the colony had been celebrating the flying roll feast of passover. There were rivulets of coagulated blood on the front steps and great splashes of blood on the ceiling of the porch, up and down the door panels and on the side of the house near the door, as though dippers full of blood had been thrown at the door.—Chicago Tribune.

WARD CAUCUSES

Lively Battles Fought Last Night.

A HOT CONTEST FOR THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Pondergast, Dana and Maguire For the Council.

The democratic caucuses were held last night and were largely attended. The result is given below.

WARD ONE.

No Contest in the Choice of Candidates.

It was strange for the voters of old Ward two, now Ward one, to assemble in Jackson hall to hold their caucus. Henry S. Courtney was chairman of the caucus and balloting commenced at 7 o'clock, the polls closing at 9 o'clock.

The balloting resulted as follows:

Delegates—D. J. Donahue, H. S. Courtney, B. J. Callahan, C. H. Burns, F. P. Murphy, G. Grant, J. Hurtubise and W. H. Donahue.

Councilmen—Winston I. Rollins, E. T. Goward, John J. Duffy.

School committee—Peter Gallagher.

Overseer of the poor—R. J. McClusky.

Mr. Goward declines the nomination.

A REMARKABLE CONTEST.

Thomas J. Mulligan Defeats Dr. Daly in the Hottest Caucus Fight.

The voters of new Ward two were treated last night to one of the hottest and closest battles that have ever been waged in the city. Interest all centered in the school committee contest between Dr. Daly and Thomas J. Mulligan, both members of the present school board.

In the heat of the contest no attention was paid whatever to the councilmanic race. On the result of the contest was waged about $1000. Both sides exerted their utmost efforts to bring out a large vote.

All during the evening the Bijou theatre where the caucus was held, was crowded and the long line of voters extended down the stairway to the street. Workers in the interest of each candidate were stationed at various points and it is safe to say that ward two will never witness another such caucus. From 5 o'clock to 10.30 the polls were opened, and during that time 938 votes were cast. Shortly after 10.30, the counting commenced. On the first 100 ballots Mr. Mulligan led by one vote. Then Dr. Daly got a lead of 8 on the next fifty and at the 200 mark it was an even thing. At 300, Mr. Mulligan led by 27, and on the next 50 increased it to 30. Then Dr. Daly commenced to gain and when 650 ballots were counted, Mr. Mulligan held his lead by 15 votes.

The next 100 were evenly divided, each receiving 49.

Then Dr. Daly gained again and when 900 had been counted the vote was a tie. There remained but 38 ballots to be counted and the excitement was intense.

During the count of these 38, the candidates shifted positions at least half a dozen times, first, one taking the lead, and then giving it up to the other. As each ballot was announced there were great shouts. The last five came out straight for Mr. Mulligan and as he appeared to be the nominee his friends cheered again and again. The final count stood: Thomas J. Mulligan, 492; Dr. Daly, 455.

Mr. Thomas Mahoney was nominated for overseer of the poor by acclamation.

In making Mr. Mulligan's nomination unanimous Mr. Daly said. "I congratulate my opponent and move to make his nomination unanimous. The elements were against me for the wise men stay at home on a rainy night."

WARD THREE.

A Very Quiet Contest in the New Ward.

There was no interest to speak of in this ward. The officers were:

Chairman, John F. Tully; secretary, John W. Kennedy.

Mayoralty delegates—John F. Tully, John J. Burns, John W. Kennedy, Dennis J. Collins, Jeremiah F. Murphy, John T. Powers, Richard E. Burns, James A. Young.

Common councilmen—Jeremiah E. Murphy, Arthur W. Sherman, Patrick F. Hurrahan.

Fred Woodies, who was defeated in the republican caucus by the A. P. A. candidate, received the nomination for school committee, with but slight opposition.

Overseer of the poor—Henry J. Draper.

WARD FOUR.

Voters of New Ward Four Turn Out in Large Numbers.

The Lyon street ward room was the scene of an old time Ward three caucus last night. The voters were out in force to express their preference in the councilmanic contest.

"Joe" Gormley presided and the polls opened at 6 o'clock and closed at 10 o'clock. In the school committee contest there was really no fight at all for Dr. Kelley outdistanced his competitor. The delegates elected to attend the mayoralty convention were: Frank T. O'Neill, John B. Cox, M. J. Markham, James F. Owens, Peter J. Brady, John E. Maguire, James H. Gormley and Edward Rigney.

The vote in the council fight was as follows: James F. Miskella 601, Timothy J. Reynolds 448, Stephen O'Hare 358, William Ashworth 178, Frank M. Fagan 344, John P. Mahoney 259, John J. Roarke 212, Richard J. Welch 137.

School committee—John A. Gately 167, William J. Kelley 714.

Overseers of the poor—John B. Clancey 111, Edward R. Donovan 299, John J. Gilbride 448.

WARD FIVE.

Sullivan, Thornton And O'Hare Are the Winners.

The fight in Ward five was not so hot as was expected. The winners in the council fight were: John E. Sullivan, Chares E. Thornton and John P. O'Hare.

Michael Daly was a close fourth and Jeremiah Tompkins got fifth place. Joseph Donohoe was nominated by acclamation for overseer of the poor, and Hugh Farley had a walk over in the school committee contest.

WARD SIX.

A Contest Over Delegates In Centralville.

The caucus was called to order by Fisher H. Pearson and John H. Nolan was made chairman; Thos. J. Gallagher, secretary.

The whole number of votes cast was 121, and the following delegates were elected: Peter H. Golden 87, Thos. J. Carmody 83, Joseph H. Clark 81, James H. Duffy 77; T. J. Gallagher 76, John H. Nolan 76, Austin F. Conway 75, James Coleman 70. James Tweed received 68 and John C. Burke 51.

The following councilmanic nominations were made without opposition: Wilfred Cordeau, Peter A. Fay, Harris C. Pearson.

School committee—Dr. A. E. Gillard.

Overseer of the poor—Geo. A. Clark.

LIVELY TILT IN WARD SEVEN.

It Took Two Hours to Select a Chairman.

Patrick J. Custy and James A. Ready were candidates for the aldermanic nomination in this ward. The fighting commenced just as soon as James A. Sullivan called to order. Custy's crowd appeared favorable to Andrew Barrett for chairman. Others wanted John Welch and claimed that both candidates had requested him to act as chairman. John F. Murphy said he wanted fair play and advocated the election of Mr. Welch as chairman. It took two hours to settle the matter and Mr. Barrett was chosen chairman and Col. J. H. Carmichael secretary.

The Custy Celegates won out by a vote of 93 to 64, and they are pledged to stand by Mayor Courtney.

The delegates are: P. J. Custy, E. J. Carroll, A. E. Barrett, J. F. Holden, John Riordon, Frank M. Crogan, J. A. Sullivan, J. E. Conway.

Councilmen—Thomas H. Harrington, Fred M. Prescott, Thomas D. Little.

School committee—John F. O'Brien.

Overseer of the poor—Henry Dasmarais.

A SLIM ATTENDANCE.

About Fifty Voters Were Present in Ward Eight.

The caucus here was attended by about fifty voters and all nominations were made by a committee. Here are the candidates selected:

Delegates—M. H. Fletcher, Thomas H. Fox, Joseph H. Breault, Philip P. Connors, Charles W. Whitman, Thomas Griffin, Joseph F. Fitzpatrick, Thomas S. Kolley.

Common councilmen—Oliver C. Libby, John Mahoney, —— Parsons.

School committee—James Howard.

Overseer of poor—Thomas O'Brien.

The delegation was unanimously instructed to vote for William F. Courtney for mayor and Oliver A. Libbey for alderman.

After the caucus the delegation met and organized by the choice of Marcellus H. Fletcher for chairman and Thomas Griffin for secretary.

THE BELVIDERE WARD.

No Contest of Any Kind Occurred in Ward Nine.

Everything passed off quietly here and the polls were closed at 7.15 as it was very evident that little interest was felt in any contest.

The delegates chosen were: Edward D. Boyle, John H. Clark, Paul T. Connell, George W. Gordon, F. X. Alfred Hurtubise, Henry J. McDonald, Frank J. Simonds, Fred C. Weld.

Councilmen—Charles H. Hobson, Fred G. Lundberg, Thomas O'Day.

School committee—Thomas P. Boulger.

Overseer of poor—Hugh McOsker.

2 O'CLOCK

A BIG SURPRISE

Is Expected in the President's Message.

HEARTY SYMPATHY FOR THE CUBAN INSURGENTS

And Their Probable Recognition as Belligerents.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—President Cleveland's friends in Washington and elsewhere with whom he discusses public questions continue to assert that the forthcoming message to congress will contain a chapter on the foreign policy of the administration that will be a great surprise to the public, according to The Sun's Washington correspondent.

The leading topics to be discussed in this chapter will be the Venezuelan boundary dispute and the Cuban revolution. The surprise, it is said, will be occasioned by the president's announcement that with regard to these questions the administration has taken advanced ground in the direction of such vigorous assertion of American rights as to amount to a complete reversal of its foreign policy up to the time Mr. Olney became secretary of state.

It is said that the surprise prepared for the public is nothing less than an expression of the president's hearty sympathy with the efforts of the Cubans to obtain freedom, and a further intimation that, in the opinion of the administration, they should be recognized as belligerents.

Cleveland's Change of Heart.

More than a month ago the statement was published, on the alleged authority of Don M. Dickinson, that the president would anticipate his annual message with the announcement of the reversal of his former foreign policy, as developed on the house treatment of the Hawaiian question, and his conversion to a vigorous American policy, inclining even toward jingoism.

At the time this report was in circulation a member of the cabinet pronounced it to be incorrect so far as it stated that the announcement of the new policy would be made public before the appearance of the annual message to congress. In that message, and not before, the cabinet minister said, the president would proclaim his change of heart, and now the statement is repeated that the vigorous Americanism of the new policy will be a surprise to the public, amounting to a sensation.

The terms of Secretary Olney's midsummer "ultimatum" to Great Britain on the Venezuelan question, and the recommendation for the reception of the Cuban revolutionists as belligerents, will be made public simultaneously.

Another Lynching Scheduled.

ABBEVILLE, S. C., Nov. 26.—Notice has been received that a mob will attack the jail here for the purpose of lynching John Mitchell and Richard Wash, both colored, who are under arrest for the murder of Norissa Bagwell, a white woman. She was killed Thursday evening on the public highway near her home and her body was taken to a deserted house and buried. Wash says that he was with Miss Bagwell at 3 o'clock Friday morning, and asserts that she cut her throat, and that before doing so she requested him to burn her body in the house. The story is improbable.

Not Given His Freedom.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—David F. Hannigan, who on Thursday last was acquitted of the killing of Solomon H. Mann on the ground of insanity, was brought before Justice Ingraham in oyer and terminer yesterday. The court denied the motion of counsel for defense to discharge Hannigan, and committed him to the state asylum for the insane at Poughkeepsie, "in strict adherence to the spirit of the law."

Drew Their Little Fives.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Clarendon hall was crowded yesterday with housesmith strikers, who came for the benefit stipend of $5 a week allowed them by the union. It is on an average as much as they get during the winter months. Seven hundred men drew $5 each. The present situation is one of expectancy. There may be a general strike or there may be a general lockout, all depending on circumstances.

Indebtedness Made Good.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 26. — Graham F. Blandy of New York secured a verdict for $14,648.09 in the supreme court yesterday in a suit against William H. Howell of this city, for payment of a note for $11,588.58 indebtedness, which was incurred in speculation in railroad stocks on the New York Stock Exchange in 1881.

Insurance Man Wants Damages.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—J. C. Bergstresser, proprietor The Insurance World, was held in $2000 bail here yesterday on a charge of criminal libel. The article complained of charged J. A. Conroy with running a "fake" insurance company. The defendant admitted the authorship and publication of the article.

A Loafer's Crime.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—Bushrod Kelch for several years has done nothing but loiter about saloons. A few weeks ago his wife obtained a divorce from him. Yesterday afternoon he shot her and then shot himself. Mrs. Kelch died almost immediately. He will probably recover.

No Interest After Jan. 1.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The treasury department yesterday gave notice that United States 6 per cent bonds of the face value of $8,680,000, and commonly known as "currency 6s," become due on Jan. 1, 1896, and that interest on said bonds will cease on that day.

Left Forty-Four Grandchildren.

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Johanna Carney died here yesterday at the age of 96 years. She was born in Ireland, but had lived in Salem over 40 years. She leaves two sons, 44 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Tramps' Misfortune.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. — While six tramps were sleeping yesterday by the boiler at the electrical power house, a valve blew out, scalding them badly. Two of the men have died.

AN AWFUL CRASH

Many Persons Killed By Powder Explosion.

OF EIGHTY EMPLOYES OF CARTRIDGE FACTORY

Few Escape Injury And 17 Were Killed.

BARCELONA, Nov. 26.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday at Palma, capital of the island of Majorca, 130 miles south of this city. Eighty persons, most of whom were women, were employed in emptying old cartridges outside the walls of the town, when one of the cartridges exploded in some unknown manner. There was a large quantity of powder that had been taken out of the cartridges lying about over a large area, and this was ignited by the discharge of the cartridge. A tremendous explosion followed. The bodies of 17 dead have been found, but it is feared that many more were killed. Forty persons were seriously wounded and some of them will die.

Many of the dead and wounded were found at considerable distances from the scene of the accident, they having been hurled bodily through the air by the force of the explosion.

Some of the dead were terribly burned and mangled, so much so in a number of cases that identification will be extremely difficult, if not impossible. An official inquiry into the cause of the disaster will be held.

Religion Cuts a Figure.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—The case of the Canada Revue against Archbishop Fabre for $50,000 damages, through putting the paper under the ban of the church, came up for judgment yesterday. Judges Tait and Taschereau, both Catholics, decided that the bishop had the right to condemn any paper that spoke contrary to the teachings of the Catholic church. Judge Archibald, a Protestant, dissented, and gave the Canada Revue $10,000, on the grounds that the bishop's action was an unjustifiable interference. The decision was on an appeal taken by the Canada Revue from the adverse judgment of Judge Doherty in the superior court. The appeal is accordingly dismissed, there being 2 to 1 against it.

Freedom For Smugglers.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 26.—The appeals made by a number of liquor sellers against convictions imposed by local magistrates for smuggling were sustained by the supreme court yesterday, the indictments being quashed. This involves the collapse of the whole litigation against smuggling, it being felt that the government cannot keep certain persons in custody while others are at liberty. It is possible that the board of revenue will now intervene and impose fines in all cases.

Resignations Refused.

LIMA, Nov. 26.—President Pierola has refused to accept the resignations of the members of the cabinet, the prefect and the sub-prefect, tendered yesterday, unless the senate confirms the motion of censure recently passed by the deputies, and he has sent a message to this effect to the senate.

New Loan Not Needed.

ROME, Nov. 26.—In the chamber of deputies yesterday the minister of the treasury announced that the surplus would be 1,270,000 lire this year, and that he expected a surplus next year of 8,020,000 lire, without a new loan. He added that the position of the treasury was improving.

Bachmann's Queer Business.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Max Bachmann, who is wanted in Burlington, Vt., on a similar charge, was arrested yesterday, charged with swindling insurance companies by renting houses in this city and causing their destruction by fire, thereby securing the insurance.

Princess Maud's Birthday.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—This is the birthday of Princess Maud of Wales, recently betrothed to Prince Charles of Denmark. She was born in 1869. The prince was born in 1872. On account of the recent betrothal, special festivities marked this birthday.

Twelve Sailors Probably Drowned.

HALIFAX, Nov. 26.—Advices from Harbor Grace, N. F., say it is feared the 22-ton schooner Victory, Robert Bradbury, master and owner, has been lost with all on board. There were 12 persons on board the Victory.

Copyright Negotiations.

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—The Canadian Copyright association had a conference yesterday with Dominion government officials, and submitted a draft of the copyright act, which parliament will be asked to ratify.

Palmer Beats Plimmer.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Before the National Sporting club last night "Peddler" Palmer defeated Billy Plimmer in the contest for the 112-pound championship of the world, the battle lasting 14 rounds.

Denmark Drawn Into It.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 26. — The Spanish government has notified the authorities of Denmark that Danish ships have recently assisted the Cuban rebels with arms and ammunition.

Minus Her Propeller.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Nov. 26.—The British steamer Halifax City, which left London on Nov. 24 for St. John, N. B., arrived here yesterday, having lost a propeller blade.

Ship Lillian Disabled.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 26.—British ship Lillian Robbins, from New York, June 4, for Shanghai and Hong Kong, has been towed into Saigon in a badly crippled condition.

Can't Move the Thames.

HALIFAX, Nov. 26.—Tugs have been unsuccessful in trying to float the steamer Thames, ashore at Pettyes ledges, and she is being stripped.

A Fearful Record.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—During the past month there were 236 cholera deaths in Volhynia and 52 in Kieff.

The Greatest Showman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A few days ago it was stated, and denied, that the Sells Bros. had consolidated with the Barnum & Bailey show. The real deal was the consolidation of the Sells Bros. and Forepaugh shows. This enables Mr. Bailey to control three of the greatest shows in the world. The terms of the deal have not been made public.

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY has opened fire on Mayor Curtis. The battle promises to be hot.

REED'S BOOM for the presidency grows apace. He is already canvassing members of the new house. The Czar wants to rule.

SENATOR HOAR appeals to the president in behalf of Americans in Turkey. The unspeakable Turk should be driven from Europe.

OSCAR WILDE is reported dying in prison. A man of his eminence could not be so imprisoned in this country. There is a strong sentiment in England against immorality so that when a high dignitary is convicted of immoral practices, he is sure to suffer as well as the lowest.

GOVERNMENTAL INCONSISTENCY.

The governor of Texas called a special session of the legislature to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmon's fight, but he said not a word when a vast concourse of people gathered at a public square and burned a negro slowly at the stake. That was one of the most cruel exhibitions that ever took place in this country and the fact that no word of protest has been heard from the governor shows that his pretentions to humane sentiments were all buncombe. The perpetrators of such an outrage should be arrested and punished and if the local authorities fail the state should step in to vindicate the law.

THE Y. M. C. I. BUILDING.

The dedication of the Y. M. C. I. building last night was an event long to be remembered in the history of the growth and progress of the Catholic church in this city.

The church is always engaged in educational work, in the school, in the lyceum, in the temperance society and even in the gymnasium, for in many cases it is found advantageous to combine mental, moral, and physical culture in the same society.

The Catholic church is the great patron of total abstinence societies and of organizations such as the Y. M. C. I., composed of young men who are practical Catholics.

Every day sees some new stigma cast upon the church by the misdeeds of nominal Catholics, viz., those who claim allegiance to the church but who do not perform their religious duties.

But in such a society as the Y. M. C. I. young men are brought up in an atmosphere of religion, in strict conformity to the laws of God and those of the state, to be good Catholics and consequently good and law abiding citizens. To them the church can point as representative of her culture and her teaching.

The institute is to be congratulated upon this step upward and onward and THE SUN extends it a kindly greeting with best wishes for a long and prosperous career in the work of moulding a character already so auspiciously begun.

MILLER THE VICTIM.

The republican convention is over and Joseph Miller is the nominee for mayor.

The A. P. A. order is determined to force him upon the republican voters and the question now is will the old line republicans swallow him?

His vote in the convention was 77 out of 144, but a few more than a majority but of course the farce of making it unanimous was gone through.

Boss Varnum was turned down without a murmur and as if that was not enough one of the speakers in nominating a candidate for alderman gave a heartless thrust at the Boss for having voted against his party during the year.

Such is politics. But a few short months ago the Boss stood as a dictator before the city, now none so poor as to do him reverence.

Mr. Webster wore a smile of satisfaction when the Varnum boom was laid away forever but Varnum is not dead and he is not without friends who will refuse to swallow Miller and the A. P. A. ticket.

As Messrs. Fowler and Chadwick made their way from the hall to find Joe Miller they remarked "where shall we find the victim."

That was a very appropriate epithet to apply at the outstart.

Miller is the victim and this will be fully demonstrated on election day in December.

MAJORITIES REDUCED.

Elections Show the Political Pendulum Has Begun the Backward Swing.

As the first telegraphic flashes of election returns are succeeded by actual figures it is made clear that the backward swing of the political pendulum has begun, says the Philadelphia Record. The phenomenal Republican victory of 1894 marked the topmost limit of reaction. This year, although the Democrats remain dispirited, benumbed and inactive, the Republicans show no added capability of offense. Their majorities have been reduced. Where the Democrats have been beaten in Democratic states, as a rule, they have not deserved to be victorious.

The lesson of the election in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Kentucky is of one tenor. No party can govern the country that is not true to itself. The Democracy can only maintain the confidence of the people by putting aside the huckstering professional leadership with which the party has been cursed, and which has turned its past triumphs into defeats.

The Republican victories of this year, where they have not been the outcome of revolt against a demoralizing Democratic leadership, have been the fruits of apathetic discouragement. The Democrats have simply laid down and let their political opponents walk over them. For this state of things the remedy is reorganization and a leadership that will have both head and heart in it. The movement in this direction cannot begin a day too soon.

TARIFF IS ALL RIGHT.

Business Sentiment of the Country Is Adverse to Change.

Republican organs which loudly proclaim that Republican victory means a renewal of tariff agitation will do well to take counsel with the business men of their party before they proceed farther in so foolish a plan of campaign.

The recent declarations of representative bodies of merchants and manufacturers, deprecating further attempts at tariff tinkering for supposed political ends, are significant.

They mean that the present tariff should stand substantially as it is, subject only to such changes as may be recommended by an unpartisan, carefully chosen national commission.

It is clear that if the Republican majority in the next congress chooses to disregard and defy the business sentiment of the country and engage in needless and costly tariff agitation it will have the power so to act.

But such a course will be to invite a Waterloo defeat for Republicanism all along the line next November.—Boston Globo.

A Stimulus For Democrats.

It is easily possible for the Republicans to gain 6 seats, giving them 51 of the 90 senators and leaving the Democrats with only 33. There seems to be no chance for the Populists to increase their present number of 6, and thus the Republicans may easily have a majority of 10 over both Democrats and Populists in the senate. This prospect will operate as a tremendous stimulus to the Republicans to go in and elect their president next year. But it should also have the effect of arousing the Democrats of the country to put forth every effort to prevent the government of the country from again becoming exclusively Republican, thereby insuring such legislative extravagances and outrages as will even surpass those of the notorious "billion dollar congress," which assembled in December, 1889.—Hartford Times.

Poor Campaign Material.

For campaign purposes the woolen industry is certainly in a very deplorable condition, but it is otherwise doing fairly well. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, an excellent authority, says: "Sales of wool at Boston last week reached the unprecedented amount of 11,914,000 pounds. This does not represent the mills to be in a very depressed state. In fact, even the tariff calamity people say the woolen goods market is in a better position than it has been, and the mills are mostly doing well."—Philadelphia Record.

Have a Good Fighting Chance.

No matter if the Republicans have succeeded to the extent of all that they claim as to the recent election, there is no occasion for us to despair of winning the presidency next year. The Democrats are famous for showing their fighting qualities in the direst extremities. It is peril that brings out our pluck, adversity that makes us unanimous.—Richmond Dispatch.

Democracy Can Win.

Election figures prove that the Democracy is abundantly supplied with the votes to win in 1896, but that the votes must be organized, satisfied and honestly led. Now we know what is before us. We can win if we will.—St. Louis Republic.

It Looks Like Foraker's.

It was recorded the day after election that Governor McKinley "claimed 100,000 majority in Ohio." Whose majority is this, anyhow? In the light of all the testimony so far adduced Mr. Foraker will probably lay claim to it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Yellow Dog to the Front.

The Republican yellow dog will now be more in evidence than ever. Big majorities are apt to send the best men to the rear.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The American Rush

Diseases Caused by Too Much Hard Work and Worry.

They Wear Out the Kidneys.

Why Americans are More Nervous, Anaemic, and Suffer More From Bright's Disease Than Other Nationalities.

RUSH AND WORRY OUR BANE

The Kidneys and Their Clogging Caused by Overwork and Worry

Cure and Cure of Clogged Kidneys.

We are an overworked nation.

We get through a great deal of work. We do more, and work harder and faster than any other nation on earth.

And that is the trouble.

We work too fast, think too fast, eat too fast.

We don't take enough rest.

Nemesis overtakes us and disorders our kidneys. Nemesis the goddess of vengeance. Nature revenges herself if you overtax her.

Why do we get sick in our kidneys?

It's simple enough to explain and to remember.

Our kidneys were made to filter our blood. That is the first thing.

Every drop of blood that passes through our body has to go through these filters and be purified.

All work uses up blood. That is the next thing.

Blood is fuel. If we work one organ (brain, stomach, arm, leg,) more than another, blood rushes to the hard-worked organ, to nourish it and strengthen it.

Too much work of any kind uses too much blood and strains the kidneys so much that it hurts them. That is the next thing.

Strained kidneys are sick kidneys. Sick kidneys don't filter the blood. And this is the end of it.

To be well we must live naturally—to get well when sick take Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

Living naturally doesn't mean doing without comfort, but not overdoing anything—not overworking, not over-thinking, not over-worrying, not over-eating, —not overstraining our kidneys.

It is so simple to remember that if our blood is kept pure we can keep almost perfectly well; so easy to take care of ourselves if we want to.

But when we are sick it is well to know of something that will make us well.

The cure for all kidney and blood troubles is Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

They are a simple and perfect cure for Bright's disease, diabetes, nephritis, cold in the kidneys, for the symptoms of sleeplessness, backache, sideache, nervousness, frequent thirst, chilly sensations, evil forebodings, puffiness and swelling of the eyelids, feet and ankles.

By nourishing and gently toning up the kidneys and curing them of all that would clog them and prevent them from filtering, Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will cure all disorders of impure and poisonous blood, such as rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, anaemia, thinness of the blood, muscular weakness, tiredness, depression of spirits, shortness of breath, etc.

A few doses will relieve. A few boxes will cure.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills are made principally from the root of the asparagus by a special process which extracts all the virtue in the root. They are perfectly harmless, purely vegetable, and are strongly recommended by physicians of high standing as well as by all who have used them.

Sold by all druggists or mailed prepaid for 50 cents a box.

A free book about the kidneys, "A Filter for Your Blood," illustrated, mailed on request. Hobb's Medicine Co., Chicago or San Francisco.

HE GAVE IT UP.

Witherby Thought He Knew, but He Was Mistaken.

"Give me time."

As Witherby spoke he looked beseechingly at his wife, and rising rapidly from his chair hurriedly paced the floor, his brow contracted, his whole attitude indicating that he was endeavoring to grasp some difficult mental problem.

"Time!" echoed his wife scornfully. "Do you mean to tell me that you have so soon forgotten what this day means to me—a day that stands out in my life, compared with which other days are puny and insignificant—that it has slipped from your memory as a mere nothing, a day that has not even risen enough above the dead level of all other days to impress itself in the slightest manner on your mind? But then," she continued, with a slight touch of scorn, even while the hot tears forced themselves into her eyes, "I might have known that such would be the case. You are, after all, like all other men. Feverishly excited over an event at the time, your enthusiasm knows no bounds, your"—

"My dear," said Witherby, suddenly pausing in his walk, while a look of exultation came over his face as he turned affectionately and clasped his wife's hand in his, "say no more. Forgive me. I've been so occupied with business that it went away from me entirely. What a fool I was not to remember that this is the day on which we were married."

"Married!" almost shrieked his wife as she rose and faced him, while a look of deep pity came into her eyes. "I believe, sir, that we were married in June, and here it is autumn. Will you try again?"

Witherby sat down and buried his face in his hands.

"Never!" he replied brokenly.

"Then," said his wife, seating herself back in her chair with a hard, set look in her face, "I shall never expect anything from you again. I shall never dare to think that you have one touch of romance left in you. But I must confess," she added resignedly, "that it comes as a great shock to me, my dear, to think that you have so soon forgotten that this is the anniversary of the day I made my first century run."—Brooklyn Life.

Got No Increase.

The following new story comes from the west: Mr. L., a good natured German, was the proprietor of a considerable clothing business in a country town. He had in his employ one John S., whom he had advanced from cashboy to head clerk and who had been for many years an attache of the store. Since his promotion John had several times asked for a raise in his salary, and each time his request had been granted. One morning John again appeared at the old merchant's desk with another request for an increase of $10 per month. "Vy, Shon," said Mr. L., "I dink I bays you pooty vell already. Vot for I bays you any more?"

"Well," replied John confidently, "I am your principal help here. I have worked you up to a large trade. I know every detail of the business, and indeed I think you could not get along without me."

"Is that so!" exclaimed the German. "Mein Godd! Shon, vot vood I do subpose you vas to die?"

"Well," hesitated John, "I suppose you would have to get along without me then."

The "old man" took several whiffs from his big pipe and said nothing. At last he gravely remarked, "Vell, Shon, I guess you petter gonsider yourself dead."—Business Journal.

Too Much For Him.

It was seen at an early stage of the conflagration that the large bookstore of William Binding was doomed. The flames had started in the basement and had made headway clear through the building to the dead of night before the first alarm was turned in. The watchman had been careless and off his post. No less than 10,000 volumes of fiction, travel and essays, etc., were being consumed by the fiery element.

The proprietor was soon on the spot, trembling with excitement, but he could do nothing. He importuned the firemen to save his stock, but they told him it was impossible.

"We're lucky if we can put out the fire at all," they said. Mr. Binding was in anguish.

Suddenly he broke through the cordon established by the police and rushed toward the burning pile.

"I haven't been bringing books out for 20 years," he yelled, "to fail at it now."

But he perished in the flames.

It's a difficult job, that of editing literary remains.—New York Recorder.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

How to Cure Yourself While Using It.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Curo," is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking "Baco-Curo," it will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. "Baco-Curo" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke. Sold by all druggists, with our ironclad guarantee, at $1.00 per box, three boxes, (thirty days' treatment). $2.50 and guaranteed cure, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Booklet and proofs free. WORST NOT TOLD

Christian Nations Ignorant of Worst Atrocities.

THE KURDS START A RELIGIOUS WAR

For Exterminating the Armenians in Toco.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A dispatch to The Daily News from Constantinople, giving a general resume of the situation, declares that the recent massacres put the earlier outrages of Sassoun and Moosh entirely in the background.

If either England, France or Russia should publish the stories reported officially by their cool-headed consuls, all Europe would stand aghast at the proof, surprised to think such things possible. Wherever these consuls have investigated matters, they have found that the accusation that the Armenians provoked the riots is false.

Turkish Intimidation.

A correspondent of The Telegraph announces that strenuous efforts are being made throughout the Armenian provinces to compel clergymen and prominent persons, by threats, to sign addresses to the sultan, declaring that the Armenians provoked all the outbreaks. It is claimed that the one recently from Erzroom was procured in this fashion.

Kurds' One Object.

The correspondent of The Daily News at Odessa says that a private dispatch from the peninsula of Anatolia announces that the Kurds in several districts have renounced obedience to the Turkish empire and declared a religious war, the extinction of the Armenians being the avowed object.

The Sultan's Duplicity.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The following letter has been received in this city from a reliable correspondent in Constantinople:

The Turks have induced some of the subsidized European papers to speak of these crimes as Armenian outbreaks, etc. But the ambassadors have full reports, which they ought to publish, that refute all this, and show conclusively that the sultan, within a day or two after he signed the reform scheme, ordered the Armenians to be massacred in order that there should be no question of an Armenian majority in any of the provinces. The people flew upon the spoil, and so did not execute the sultan's wish to the full. But the loss of life has been awful. Moreover, there seems no way of preventing more of the sort.

It is the most awful crime of the century, because it is so persistently falsified by its authors. Everywhere the story is the same; a deliberate preparation, and then a story sent to Europe that the Armenians attacked the inoffensive Turks and were reduced to order after a few had been killed.

Worse times are in store for us. Europe is divided in counsel, and the Turks finding that nothing is done for this crime, will go on to extremities.

The highest Moslem court has declared that the sultan cannot lawfully be restrained in the exercise of his will, since he is the representative of God for the whole world.

From 15,000 to 20,000 people have been cruelly slaughtered during the last month, and in consequence no less than 100,000 persons, heretofore dependent on them for their daily food, are now in want. The coming winter will witness a vast amount of suffering. It is not alone at Sassoun, but all over the land where these occurrences have taken place.

The Reeves-Day Case.

HARTFORD, Nov. 26.—The case of Mrs. Amelia E. Reeves, wife of G. S. Reeves, the theatrical manager, and Actor Samuel Day, who are charged with adultery by Reeves, came up before Judge Bill yesterday. Adjudgment was asked for by the defense until the husband of the accused woman should produce documentary evidence that she is his wife, and it was granted. The bail was reduced from $1000 to $500 each, but no bondsmen could be obtained and the couple spent the night in cells.

A November Blizzard.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 26.—Telegraph and telephone wires to the west are practically worthless on account of the gale which is sweeping over the middle states. The wind in many vicinities has reached a velocity of from 50 to 75 miles an hour. Rain and hail accompany the gale in most instances. The wires have been blown down on all the different routes.

Tornado at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 25.—A big gale swept over this city last night, the wind reaching a velocity of 70 miles an hour. Signs, awnings and chimneys were blown down, plate-glass windows were broken and a great amount of damage done. Telegraph and telephone wires were blown down and outside communication badly crippled.

Set Fire For Spite.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Richard Sennott, who has been lodging for the past few days at 311 Hanover street, was arrested last night on a charge of setting fire to the house. The occupants of the building are Alexander McNeil and family, and Sennott had a disagreement over an alleged debt. Sennott confessed to setting the fire.

Father O'Grady In Court.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26.—Father Dominick O'Grady, who shot Mary Gilmartin, was brought into court yesterday from the hospital on a cot, to be tried as to his sanity. The prosecutors claim his condition is the result of persistent shamming. The jury have not yet been completed.

Burglars' Booty Unearthed.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The police of station 3 and over $700 worth of stolen property a pawnshop yesterday, which, it is be[lieve]d, was stolen by Walter L. Gray and companion, who were arrested in [Ja]n.

Gold Galore.

[VIC]TORIA, B. C., Nov. 26.—Vancouver, [Ski]nimus of the Canadian Pacific, has co[me] the front as a rich gold field. One [vei]n is said to be the largest one on [re]cord, being not less than 80 feet wide.

Investigation Ordered.

[WASH]INGTON, Nov. 26. — Complaints [have] been received at the treasury department that the steamer Shackamaxon, now carrying immigrants between Elis Island and the barge office in New [York], is wholly unfit for that purpose. The matter will be investigated.

TALES OF THE TIMES.

Murder or Mercy?—A Story of the Great War.

"Was it murder?"

No; it was mercy.

The questioner commanded a company at Williamsburg, the first battle of magnitude fought by General McClellan. The next day the captain's regiment was visited by McClellan. While in line "Little Mac" rode to their front and warmly thanked the men for their superb conduct. His command was in the brigade of "Hancock the Superb." It was Hancock's first battle as a brigade commander; it was there that he established his reputation as a commander and a fighter; there that he endeared himself to his men; there that he was marked for promotion and a higher command.

After the battle the captain went over the field and assisted in caring for the wounded and gave directions for the burial of the slain. One young man, an associate in school, a lifelong friend, was shot through the body—mortally wounded. His sufferings were intense. He knew he had to die. His captain and comrades knew he must soon pass away. He beckoned the captain to come close to him. The officer, sorely afflicted at the loss of his friend, and in great agony over his sufferings, knelt by his side, took his hand and listened to the messages he wanted sent to the dear ones at home.

"Do you think I am going to die, captain? Don't be afraid to tell me."

"I am afraid you are, old friend."

"I know I must die. I wish I might die now, this instant. Only God and myself know how I am suffering. Come closer; let me whisper to you. Captain, in God's name, help me out of the world—free me from this torture. Do not be shocked; it would be no crime. It is the last favor I have to ask. It is the greatest favor I ever asked of any one. If you love me—and I know you do—help me out of the world. Do it now; do it any way. This pain is unbearable. It will make only a few hours' difference. Help me, captain! Oh, help me!"

"I can't do it, my dear boy—I can't do it. I know it would be a mercy. I know it would be a kindness. I know it would not be a sin, but how can I do it?" The captain gently pressed the poor boy's hand, said goodby and started away. The young fellow's groans drew him back. Again he knelt at the sufferer's side. With his eyes and his lips he begged again and again for "help." Once more the officer started away. Again he looked back at his comrade. Then, as if he had nerved himself for action, he reached into a pocket, took from it a box and from that morphine enough to produce the final sleep. His courage was weakening. He stood looking at the soldier, offered a silent prayer, and then sprang to his side, gave him the medicine and a drink from his canteen.

"Thank you, captain—thank you! God bless you—God bless you! A thousand times I thank you! I have not been a very bad boy, have I?" The captain could not answer. "But I wish you would pray for me. Pray just a little. God knows I am not afraid to die. That's what I want most to do, but pray for me, please, captain." The officer was not a praying man, but there, on that battlefield, surrounded by dead and dying, he prayed for his comrade and asked the Almighty to forgive him if he had done wrong in hastening the soldier's approach to the pearly gates and golden streets at the end of the last march.

It was not long until the pain ceased. It was not long until there was another soldier to bury—another recruit for heaven.

In telling the story the captain said: "I have never felt that I did wrong. There are people possibly who would call it murder. It was mercy. Strange as it may seem, good came to me from the scenes I witnessed that evening, for the part I took in the quiet tragedy. How? I'll tell you. Not a morning or an evening, sick or well, has come and gone since that sorrowful event on the field of Williamsburg, nearly 34 years ago, without seeing me on my knees in prayer. Don't smile when I tell you that nothing but extreme sickness or death will interfere with that custom."

Isn't there a sermon in that remark?

It is a sorrowful story, this of the dying soldier, but it is one phase of army life in those years from 1861 to 1865. Will the reader be shocked when I say that there were hundreds of instances where poor fellows begged for such help and were helped in both the Union and Confederate armies? Many pleaded in vain. It required more courage to extend such help than it did to charge double shotted cannon.

"Was it murder?"

Certainly not.

At the battle of Gravelly Run, a few days before Appomattox, our brigade received hard treatment at the hands of McGowen's division. The lines of battle were close together. Both sides fought desperately. A number of Confederates charged around on the right of one of our regiments. Some of them were wounded, some of them made their escape by dodging behind trees and pushing back to their line, but one, a giant in size and a Cæsar in bravery, the equal of any man I ever saw, thrust at officers and men with his bayonet after he was ordered to surrender; clubbed his musket and hit two or three of the boys who were loading and firing at the enemy in front, and then made a bold dash at Lieutenant Kelly, who warded off the blow with his sword and called for assistance in securing the Confederate. At that moment Lieutenant Frank A. Waller, seeing the danger of the officer and the dauntless courage of the assailant, struck him a blow and felled him to the ground. He recovered almost instantly, seized his gun and made a lunge at Waller, barely missing him, and then gathered himself up as if for another blow, when Waller seized a sergeant's musket and called to him again to surrender. "No! Never!" he defiantly replied and made a fourth rush at Waller. A question had to be settled. The Confederate soldier or the Union officer had to suffer. Both did their best. A bayonet pierced the body of McGowen's man.

"Was it murder?"

No; it was war.—Colonel J. A. Watrous in Chicago Times-Herald.

Strange News From Kentucky.

The famous "dead man's whirlpool" and Salt river were perfectly dry up to the morning of the earthquake. They are now overflowing with cool, clear water, which seems to bubble up from a thousand different springs in the river bed. The natives, with scarcely a single exception, think that all this means that the world will surely come to an end at a very early date. Not one of them can be found who will go within 100 yards of the river. People from all over the state are coming daily to witness the strange sights.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HORRIBLE CRIME

Inhuman Father Kills His Two Children.

SHUTS THEM IN AN AIR TIGHT CHEST.

He Afterward Shot Himself With Fatal Result.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 25—A terrible tragedy was enacted at 1295 Broadway, today.

Herman Hattenhorst, aged 35, an instructor in a physical development school, was found lying dead in his apartments, with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver in his hand.

His two young daughters were found dead in a chest, which was closed tight. The chest was connected with the gas pipe by a rubber tube and the gas was turned on full blast, the children having been asphyxiated in their prison.

Mrs. Hattenhorst states that the family always got along amicably and thinks that her husband must have become deranged by business troubles.

She was stricken down by the shock and it is thought she cannot recover from its effect.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 25.—Martin Julian said today that there will surely be a fight between either Corbett and Fitzsimmons or Maher and Fitz, 3½ miles from El Paso, during the month of January.

THE CREW ARRIVED SAFELY.

Men From an Abandoned Ship Arrive in New York—One Lost.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The ward line steamer Vigilantin from Havanna arrived here today with Capt. Guerney, the second mate, steward and five seamen of the barkantine Bruce Hankins from Boston to Savannah which was dismasted and abandoned Nov. 13, 90 miles from Hatteras.

Capt. Guerney states that they sailed from Savannah Nov. 13 with a cargo of pitch pine lumber. Everything went smoothly until the 14th, when a hurricane wrecked the ship, forcing the crew to seek refuge on the afterhouse, over which the waves washed fiercely. The first mate, Fraser, was washed overboard. On the morning of the 14th they were picked up and taken to Havana by the British steamer Arzamohr.

FIRE RESULTED FATALLY.

Two Children Burned to Death in a New York Fire.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At nine o'clock this morning fire broke out in the apartments of William Collins at West 10th street. Lillian, aged 5, was burned to death, and William Collins, Jr., aged 10 months, was fatally burned. The damage to the house was slight.

SATURDAY NIGHT ROW.

A Conductor Roughly Handled on Lawrence Road.

The Lawrence Sun says: There was a scrimmage Saturday on board the last electric car from Lowell which arrives here about 11.30. Some drunken rowdies occasioned considerable disturbance and finally the glass in the front door was broken by one of them. Then Conductor Matthews proceeded to eject the one he thought to blame when near Dooley's farm, about four miles from Lawrence. The fellow tore Matthews' coat and others in the party struck him in the face and head. The roughs were finally put off and the car proceeded to this city. During the scuffle, Matthews lost a roll of bills, but on making a return trip to the scene of the row, the money was found.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

LABARGE—The funeral of Esther Labarge occurred yesterday afternoon from her parents' home on Broadway and was well attended. Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

NAWOSKI—Frank Nawoski, child of Joseph and Elizabeth Nawoski, died Saturday evening at their home, 7 Union street. Burial took place this afternoon in the Catholic cemetery.

REYNOLDS—The funeral of Mary Reynolds took place yesterday afternoon from her late home on Devlin avenue, and the interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

GALVIN—The funeral of the late Ellen Galvin, life long member of St. Patrick's church, took place this morning from her late home, 273 Broadway. The body was conveyed to St. Patrick's church where a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. R. S. Burke, for the repose of her soul. As the cortege entered the edifice, Miss Lemaitre, who presided at the organ, played Chopin's funeral march. The body was borne down the centre aisle where it reposed on a catafalque in front of the main altar surrounded by lighted tapers. The many beautiful floral tributes from the friends of the deceased rested on top of the casket. The choir under Mr. E. F. Faulkner's direction rendered Schmidt's requiem mass. At the offertory, Miss Josephine Finn, sang the "Pie Jesu" and at the close of mass she rendered most feelingly Hoskin's beautiful hymn "Passing out of the shadows." As the body was being borne from the church Mr. Faulkner sang "De Profundis" psalm for the dead. The bearers were: John H. Ring, Timothy Donovan, Thomas Walsh, Chas. Slowey, Patrick Collins and Edward Murphy.

The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. Fr. Burke conducting service at the grave. Undertaker Davey had charge.

DEATHS.

BRADY—Mary Brady, aged 57 years, wife of Patrick Brady, died last night at her home, 3 Bennett's court.

FROST—Henry W. S. Frost, child of Henry and Mary E. Frost, died Saturday night at their home, 44 Lundburg street. The funeral took place this afternoon and interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

CANTWELL — John Cantwell, a well known violinist of this city, died on Tuesday the 19th instant at the home of his mother in Providence. Cancer was the cause of death, and the physicians say it was the result of smoking an unclean pipe used in common by other persons.

BUTTERS—Mary E. Butters, aged 63 years, wife of George E. Butters, died Saturday at her home in Chelmsford.

COPELAND—Mary J. Copeland, aged 33 years, wife of C. S. Copeland, died at her home, 568 School street, Saturday.

Bethlehem Company's Big Contract.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 26.—The Bethlehem Iron company was yesterday informed by cable of the award to the company by the Russian government of a contract for the manufacture of nearly 1200 tons of armor plate. This is one of the largest contracts for armor plate awarded by any nation in recent years. The work is to completed by the close of next fall, and will be begun as soon as the necessary plans and details arrive from Russia. The company was in competition with 14 other armor plate manufacturers in this country and Europe.

An Important Decision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—In the case of George Goode, a letter carrier in Roxbury (Boston), convicted of embezzling money from letters, the supreme court decided that a decoy letter addressed to a fictitious person is a letter within the meaning of the law when it bears the semblance of a letter, and that it is not necessary in such cases that a carrier shall take the letter from a regular letter box in order to render him criminally liable in opening it.

Unjustly Disqualified.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Bernard J. Wefers of Lawrence, the crack sprinter, will contest the order of disqualification passed upon him by the A. A. U. Wefers was disqualified on a charge that he accepted cash prizes in an athletic meeting at Lawrence. Wefers will carry the matter into the New York courts. He says he has affidavits to prove that the prizes when given him at Lawrence were returned to the committee in charge of the meet.

IT'S JOE MILLER

For Mayor on the Republican Ticket.

ACCOUNT OF VARNUM'S SEVERE TURN DOWN.

A Committee Designates Miller the Victim.

The A. P. A. convention last night nominated its candidate for mayor and labelled its action "Republican."

Joseph Miller's friends had the organization of the caucuses and ran the meetings to suit themselves so that most of the delegations were secured for the Jonah of last year.

The convention was held in the small hall in Runel's block and it was barely big enough to hold the delegation with a few of their friends.

Those who wished to look on could do so only by looking in at the door where a large gathering vainly sought admission.

By all the republican papers of course the convention will be considered harmonious; it will be referred to as a sort of love feast in which Varnum and Miller and their respective friends had but one object in view, namely, the good of the party.

It was 7.30 before the delegates got into the hall and then commenced a hustle and a bustle with the friends of respective candidates.

What excited most interest before the convention came to order was the distribution of an Australian ballot bearing the names of Varnum and Miller.

This was undoubtedly prepared by the advisory board of the A. P. A. which knows but little of the Australian ballot or its requirements.

Where this ballot is used it is not distributed to the crowd but the Millerites made the innovation.

Louis Kileski read the call at 8.20.

Samuel Young moved that Col. Chadwick be temporary chairman. This was voted and Frank E. Dunbar was made chairman and Arthur Staples secretary.

The committee on credentials appointed was:

T. B. Stevenson, Geo. F. Bower, Marcus T. Pierce, H. P. Goodell, John Wilkson, A. H. Cline, J. C. Hill, Geo. L. Fowler, Abbott Lawrence.

The committee reported 144 delegates entitled to vote.

Lawyer Qua was the first to break the silence and as he arose a murmur went over the crowd and "Varnum" was whispered among the delegates. "I arise to nominate a candidate for mayor," said Mr. Qua. "He is known to every delegate of this convention and to almost every citizen in Lowell personally. The eyes of the people are turned this year as never before toward municipal reform. The long deadlock when teachers, policemen, and firemen were unpaid, the other difficulties, the report of the commission, have all called forcible attention to reform. The people want no more of trading or dickering, and look for a man to be at the head of the ticket who has honor and integrity."

Mr. Qua has the habit of putting his foot in things generally and he never succeeded better in so doing than last night. He wound up his speech by nominating Daniel H. Varnum of "ward two."

"Ward six," "Ward six" came from various Varnum delegates. "Oh! yes, pardon me, Mr. Varnum of Ward six," said Mr. Qua, and then came the applause from the Ward six delegates.

I, therefore, move that Daniel H. Varnum of Ward two be nominated for mayor.

Then somebody reminded Mr. Qua that the city had been redistricted and he said Mr. Varnum was from Ward six, but not half the delegates seemed to credit the statement.

On motion of Col. Chadwick an informal ballot was taken for mayor.

After some parliamentary dickering the result of the ballot was declared to be: Whole number 144; Miller 75; Varnum 49; Lawton 18; blank, 2.

A motion was made to make the ballot formal but it was defeated and on motion of Col. Chadwick a formal ballot was taken with this result: Whole number, 144; necessary, 73; Miller, 77; Varnum, 44; Lawton, 20; W. P. Burbank, 2; S. W. Stevens, 1.

Mr. Miller was declared the nominee and great thumping and clapping followed.

Mr. Qua got up again and said that the delegates from Ward two (Ward six) were just as loyal to the nominee of the convention as those of any other ward because he had been nominated before, and is man against whom not a word of reproach can be uttered.

Then the nomination was made unanimous and the Miller men alone clapped.

It will be noticed that a change of three votes would have reduced Miller's vote below a majority.

The aldermanic ticket placed in the field by acclamation is as follows:

Ward one—George H. Tryder.
Ward two—Ira E. Shaw.
Ward three—James A. Pevey.
Ward four—Byron W. Johnson.
Ward five—Alfred Leblanc.
Ward six—John H. McAlvin.
Ward seven—Charles E. Howe.
Ward eight—John C. Wilson.
Ward nine—Fred J. Flemings.

Col. Chadwick and George L. Fowler were appointed a committee to bring Joseph Miller before the meeting.

As they left the hall Mr. Fowler was heard to inquire "where they could find the victim."

This caused a laugh and a few democrats who heard it thought the remark very significant.

In a short time the committee returned with the hero of the occasion and the meeting again applauded.

Mr. Miller was presented and spoke substantially as follows:

"I heartily thank you for your kind nomination. To say that it was unexpected would be untrue, because I did expect it. A year ago the people nominated Joseph Miller for mayor. They did it the other night at the caucuses.

"I accept the nomination, and if elected will do all I can to give the city a business administration. If you will give me a board of aldermen who mean business, who are not in for your friendship, with no 'pulling and hauling, I can make a success of it. I told you a year ago that if the republican party would stand together it could elect the ticket. I say the same thing now. If you will stand together, this thing can be done.

"I have spent no more money to get the nomination this year than I spent last—none at all. I have bought no votes, and made no promises. If I go to City Hall I go unfettered by sect or party. I will go for the whole people. Let us get together and repair the breaches, and carry the city for the party. Gentlemen, I leave myself in your hands." The convention then adjourned.

THE BRIDEGROOM

Took Sick and Ceremony Was Private.

THE BRIDE AN HEIRESS TO MILLIONS

And Her Husband Also Very Wealthy.

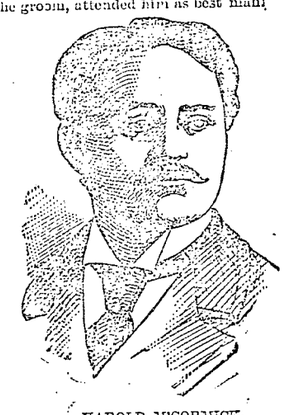

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The marriage of Miss Edith Rockefeller to Harold F. McCormick did not take place in church today, as had been intended. On Thursday last Mr. McCormick was taken with a severe cold, resulting in an attack of pleurisy. His physicians advised that he would be incurring serious risks of pneumonia to leave the room. For this reason the wedding ceremony was performed at noon at Mr. McCormick's apartments, the immediate members of the families only being present.

EDITH ROCKEFELLER.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Faunce performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. John Hall.

Miss Alta Rockefeller, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Emma Rockefeller, Miss Carrie McCormick of Chicago, Miss Scotland and Miss Caldwell of New York, and Miss Frances Adams of Boston. Cyrus McCormick and Emmons Blaine, the little nephews of the groom, attended as pages. Stanley McCormick, brother of the groom, attended him as best man.

HAROLD MCCORMICK.

A genuine love match is the alliance of Miss Edith Rockefeller and Harold Fowler McCormick, and these two young people are quite as unassuming and modest as any two lovers in all the land. Miss Rockefeller will some day inherit from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000. The fortune which young McCormick can build up may never equal this amount, but he already has enough to keep the wolf from the door.

Harold McCormick is the son of a self-made man. His father, Cyrus McCormick, was known as the "Reaper King." He invented a patent reaper, and when he died, in 1851, left a big fortune. His sons have been carrying on the business ever since. One of Harold's sisters married Emmons Blaine, who died a few years ago. Harold's income is about $100,000 a year. He is 25 years of age.

Harold graduated at Princeton with much credit to himself. Since then he has been devoting his attention to the paper business.

Miss Edith Rockefeller is 24 years of age. She would hardly be called handsome or even pretty. She is rather short of stature, not being much over five feet in height. She is a blond, but not of a decided type.

For fashionable society she does not care at all. Although she has lived in a mansion near Fifth avenue for several years she is almost unknown in New York. Before the announcement of her engagement her name was rarely seen in the newspapers.

Religiously Inclined and Scholarly.

In fact, society never saw her at all. She busied herself in hunting up poor families and planning to become a missionary to foreign countries. This girlish ambition gives the key to her whole life. Brought up in a distinctly religious atmosphere, she has continued to regard the pleasures of fashionable societies as vain and hollow.

Miss Edith can converse almost as well in French and German as she can in English, and she knows a good deal of Spanish and Italian. She even learned the Japanese language when she was preparing for the missionary work she intended to do.

She understands how to manage the affairs of a big house, and can read Horace in the original. Her musical education is very thorough. Her leaving home to be a wife breaks up the somewhat famous home orchestra. Her father plays the violin; his married daughter, Mrs. Strong, plays the second violin when she is at home; Edith plays the 'cello, and Alta the piano.

Edith has not neglected her body while training her mind. She is an expert swimmer, can ride a spirited horse, delights in skating and rides a bicycle a great deal. Altogether she is quite an athletic young woman.

Mr. McCormick and his bride will take a wedding tour of four months, and Egypt will be one of the countries where they will spend the most time.

When they return they will go to Council Bluffs, Ia. There they will make their home, and Mr. McCormick will become a partner with his brothers in the great business of the McCormick Reaper company which was built up by his father.

The Progressive Age.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Within the next year the Illinois Central and the Chicago Northern Pacific railroads will be run by electricity. It is possible that the latter road will use electricity on its entire system, while the Illinois Central will begin with its suburban service only. Stockholders ratified this decision at a meeting in this city today.

Suffragists Lose a Champion.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Ellen Battelle Dietrick, the well-known woman suffragist and newspaper writer, died yesterday from a shock following a surgical operation. Mrs. Dietrick was born in 1847 at Clarksburg, Va. Her family were New England people.

Bought by New York Capitalist.

GIRARD, Ala., Nov. 26.—The Mobile and Girard railroad was sold at auction here yesterday to Julian T. Davies of New York for $1,000,000, under a decree of foreclosure. Mr. Davies purchased the road for himself. The line is 130 miles long.

LADIES WHO VALUE
A refined complexion must use Pozzoni's Powder. It produces a soft & beautiful skin.

For Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Heartburn, Indigestion, Dizziness, Hood's Pills

ARE THEY REASONABLE?

The extraordinary newspaper claims made by most clothiers? Have their offerings the actual value claimed for them? We think not. We still pin our faith to truthful statements and honest business methods. We take no stock in the saying "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush"; that a single sale in hand today, made by misrepresentation, is worth the many sales in the bush of the future. We are after those in the future every time.

Those who know the value of clothing can, of course, rely upon their own judgment when buying. But the majority are not posted, and their only safeguard when buying is to deal with a house with an established reputation for honorable dealing. That's us. MISS WILLARD REPELS BIGOTRY

BY REFUSING THE REQUEST OF BOSTON WOMEN

To Exclude Priests From Religious Services—All in One Cause.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—A communication was read at the annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. yesterday from Miss Frances Willard in reply to the protest of the Boston union against the resolution adopted by the national body inviting Catholic and Hebrew women to send fraternal delegates to the W. C. T. U. convention. Miss Willard, after referring to the fact that the resolution was adopted by a practically unanimous vote in the national convention, states, in reply to another protest against allowing Catholic priests to take part in the religious exercises, that this custom is not a new one by any means.

Miss Willard then says: "Not one word of protest from any one of our 10,000 local unions has ever been made until now, and I freely admit that if anyone must be called to account for these manifestations of appreciation between two of the most influential temperance societies of the republic, you have directed your protest where it belongs, for I am responsible in the sight of God and man."

She further says that as a patriot she is proud to fraternize with a temperance society of Catholics "that will hiss a Catholic senate who defends the Tammany ring and applaud a Protestant police commissioner who denounces that bulwark of municipal brutality."

Cuban Story Via New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A Cuban messenger, who arrived at the Cuban junta yesterday direct from the seat of the revolution, reported that on Nov. 19 a severe battle took place. The news has been withheld from newspapers. The battle occurred at Tagnasco. The Spanish forces consisted of 10,000 men, while the Cubans had but about 4000. For 80 hours the opposing forces fought, but the Spaniards were unable to drive the Cubans back. Finally, General Antonio Maceo of the Cuban army arrived with a force of 3500 men. With the aid of this re-enforcement the Spaniards were quickly routed. General Aldive is reported to have been killed in the battle, and the total number of killed and wounded is placed at 600. General Gomez secured 700 rifles and a large amount of ammunition. This is believed to be the heaviest battle of the revolution.

Shea Wants a New Trial.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 26.—In the supreme court yesterday a motion was made for a new trial in behalf of James Shea, convicted of murdering his wife. The court gave the defendant until April 1 to file evidence on which to argue for a new trial.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

How Merchants May Contribute Toward Expanding Gold Reserve.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Gimbel Bros., dry goods dealers of this city, shipped $100,000 in gold coin to the secretary of the treasury today under the recent agreement of Secretary Carlisle to pay express charges both on the gold received and the greenbacks sent in return. They are the first merchants to take advantage of the concession offered by the secretary of the treasury.

One of the members of the firm said: "We have done this simply to encourage our fellow merchants throughout the country to do likewise. The country's credit is not now in danger, but if it were, a similar action on the part of the thousands of prosperous retail dealers in the big cities would expand the gold reserve to such an extent that there would be no further financial scare. Speaking for our own firm, I can say that we are willing to exchange every dollar in gold we receive for an equal amount in greenbacks."

Well Deserved.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. — Friends and admirers of Eugene Field, the late "poet of the children," gave an authors' benefit today for the benefit of the family of the poet. Among those who contributed to the entertainment by reading from their own work were H. B. Fuller, Miss Harriet Monroe, Hamlin Garland, Opie Read, Miss Alice French (Octave Thanet), Mrs. Mary H. Catherwood, Mrs. L. W. Bates, Miss Lillian Bell and Frank B. Harris.

Many Mistaken.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—The coroner's inquest on the Central Viaduct street car disaster was resumed yesterday. J. R. Campbell testified positively that no red light was shown over the gates. On the other hand, several other witnesses swore that the red lights were displayed at both sides of the draw, according to the rules. William Hagen testified that he saw a lantern thrown from the bridge into the river an hour after the accident occurred.

Depends on the Aldermen.

BUFFALO, Nov. 25.—Unless the aldermen of this city today gives a franchise to the Niagara Falls Power company to bring the electric power into this city, a mass meeting will be called of the bodies of business men who are impatient at the delay in making this contract, which has been caused by the common council's desire to impose a tax on the power company, and the refusal of the latter to pay it.

The Irrepressible Breckenridge.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 26.—Colonel W. P. Breckenridge of Lexington will make the race for congress in the Seventh district next year. Breckenridge stumped the district for the Democratic state ticket.

Life Crushed Out.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—George A. Nash, 51 years old, was run over and killed in Charlestown by a heavy four-horse team last evening. The driver, Fred Hacker, was arrested.

To Operate Forty Thousand Spindles.

TAUNTON, Mass., Nov. 26.—Within the next year this city will have a 40,000-spindle cotton mill. Plans have been perfected, and the capital stock of the company is to be $400,000. The mill will be in charge of one of the leading manufacturers in New England. The company have purchased 21 acres of land.

Hooker Commandery's Birthday.

BOSTON, Nov. 26. — General Joseph Hooker commandery, Union Veterans' union of Massachusetts, celebrated its fifth anniversary at the United States hotel last night. General C. W. Wood, General D. W. Wardrop, Colonel W. E. Eames and others were the speakers.

Double Domestic Tragedy.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 26.—At Throop yesterday afternoon, Seera Robbins shot and fatally wounded his wife during a quarrel. Robbins threw himself upon her and caressed and kissed her. Then he arose and sent a bullet into his brain.

IT IS DEDICATED

Splendid Building Opened Last Evening

BY THE Y. M. C. I. AND FRIENDS.

Eloquent Addresses and Enjoyable Musical Numbers.

Snugly ensconsed in a new, beautiful and commodious home, surrounded by all the attending comforts and enjoying the high esteem of the entire community, the members of the Y. M. C. I. of Belvidere felt justly proud as last night they reached the very zenith of their prosperous career and dedicated with happy exercises their handsome apartments.

It was indeed a happy occasion both for the young men and their friends and it was particularly happy for those two true friends of young men, Revs. Frs. Joyce, O. M. I., and Dacey, O. M. I., to whom they owe in a great measure their remarkable success. It was a happy occasion for the friends of the young men for with the opening of a new home they foresaw the intellectual, social and particularly the moral advancement of the Catholic youth of Belvidere.

The exercises were held in the assembly hall of the new building which is a cosy apartment admirably suited for such purposes. There were no decorations as the hall was a decoration in itself.

The seats on the stage were occupied by President Dwyer of the organization who appeared to be one of the happiest young men in the city, and Rev. Fr. Dacey, O. M. I., the spiritual director of the organization.

Among the invited guests who occupied seats of honor were the beloved pastor, Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., Mayor Courtney, License Commissioner Smith, Revs. Frs. McAvinue, Reynolds, Dorgan, Forget, McManus, Gagnon, Shaw of North Chelmsford and Murphy of Salem and many others.

At eight o'clock the exercises opened.

Rev. Fr. Dacey opened the exercises with an eloquent salutatory. He said: I welcome you dear guests to the opening of our new building. I can say no more, you are thrice welcome because you are our friends. To you fellow members I will not say welcome, you are at home. Hail our glory, hail our hope, welcome to you all tonight.

Then followed a vocal selection by Miss Mabel Ware rendered in an artistic manner. She was accompanied by Miss Theresa Corbett.

A quartet, Messrs. Haggerty, Martin, Murphy and Boulger next rendered the harmonious selection "O Happy Fair" by Shield.

The presentation of the keys was then made by Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien of the building committee who reviewed the incidents leading to the erection of the handsome building. The committee extended its heartfelt thanks to the contractor and architect for their kindness and efficiency.

President John Dwyer responded. He said: "I wish to express my sincere thanks and gratitude to all who have helped us in our venture."

He then reviewed the career of the organization from its beginning. He highly complimented the earnest and untiring spiritual director, Rev. Fr. Dacey, O. M. I. He has watched carefully over our infant society and under his fostering care we have become an organization second to none of its kind in the state. I also wish to thank, he said, our kind pastor, who so generously assisted our spiritual director in his work. We also thank the Lowell public, which has so generously assisted us in all our undertakings. I accept with gratitude the keys of the beautiful building for the purpose for which it was built.

The next number on the program was the beautiful vocal selection "Barbara Fritchie" which was sung with great expression by the talented young soprano, Miss Adelaide A. Sullivan, who was obliged to respond to an encore for which she sang, "You" very prettily.

His Honor Mayor Courtney next addressed the meeting. His appearance was greeted with thunders of applause. The mayor said: "It gives me pleasure to be present at the dedication of this new building which stands as a monument to the intelligence and perseverance of the Catholic young men of our city. You may pass away but your beautiful work remains after you. The records of this society will for all time record the fact that of all the Catholic young men of this city you stood foremost in the march of progress.

You are happy in the pursuance of your noble work, in the possession of the two brightest ornaments in our Catholic clergy, Revs. Frs. Joyce and Dacey, who have labored zealously for you and to whom you owe a debt of gratitude which you can never pay.

The future of the nation depends on the young men of today. You should always be ready to bear the burdens of citizenship. The better educated you become, the better Catholics you become, the better citizens you will become. Remember the eyes of the city are upon you. Never do that which will bring dishonor upon the fair name of your noble society. I congratulate you for the success you have achieved."

The beautiful solo "Mona" was exquisitely rendered by Mrs. Dr. Walker, who sang for an encore, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

A duet for violin and piano by DeBeriot was the next number on the program and though a difficult composition it was very artistically rendered by Mr. Joseph P. O'Dwyer and Miss Harriet Courtney.

Prof. P. P. Haggerty was enthusiastically received as he appeared to sing that charming tenor solo, "King Witloff's Drinking Horn."

Following the professor came the Y. M. C. I. double quartet which rendered two selections very finely. The double quartet is comprised of eight pleasing voices.

Miss Margaret McCaffery rendered a captivating solo in her usual pleasing manner.

Prof. Haggerty and Mr. David Martin were next on the program in a duet, "Sir, a Secret" which they sang in a manner which brought forth great applause.

The duet was one of Rossini's difficult yet musical compositions and the rendition of it was charming.

The next number of the program was perhaps the gem of the evening. It was a recitation "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time in Thy Flight," a very pathetic selection and it was rendered with great force and expression by Miss Mary C. Joyce, Lowell's most promising young elocutionist. Miss Corbett accompanied upon the piano. Miss Joyce showed her remarkable versatility in the encore by giving a humorous selection. So charmed were the spectators with Miss Joyce's talent that they demanded a second encore for which she gave that delightful tone poem "Blow, Bugle, Blow."

Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien gave a baritone solo for the next number.

The congratulatory remarks were next on the program and the first one called was Frank J. Simonds the well known "Salmagundi"

Mr. Simonds said:

It is a gratifying privilege to say a few words of congratulation to the Young Men's Catholic Institute upon this happy occasion. I am glad to stand in the presence of the members of this institute, the flower of the young manhood of Belvidere, and say to them, I congratulate you on what you have accomplished—mentally, morally and materially. And this congratulation is not entirely personal. I can safely say for my brethren of the press of Lowell that they, too, congratulate you—that they are proud of what you are and of what you have done—that they regard your society as one of the instrumentalities which are working for good in this community. Whatever help the press can give you in your work will be cheerfully and cordially extended.

You are to be congratulated, gentlemen, that the sphere of your influence is not confined to four walls of this building, nor to the bounds of Belvidere. Your influence is felt throughout the city, in public affairs as well as in private enterprises. Those of you who have been called to serve the city and state in public office have acquitted yourselves most creditably. You have served the public in a way to reflect honor upon this institute. And I am sure that those members who will hereafter be called to the public service will maintain the high standard established by the young men to whom I have referred.

My friends, you are to be congratulated for something more than the possession of a new building. You are to be congratulated on having for your guide, philosopher and friend, our good Father Dacey, to whose unselfish and untiring efforts the success you have achieved is in no small measure due.

Again I congratulate you young men, on the success which has crowned your efforts—a success which could not have been won unless you had been true to the principles on which your society is founded, and loyal to each other—working all for one and one for all. What you have accomplished is the natural result of loyal and united effort.

Loyalty is a cardinal virtue; disloyalty is base and ignoble. Be loyal to the faith which you profess; be loyal to the land in which you live; be loyal to yourselves and it will follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man.

The next speaker called upon was ex-Rep. Philip J. Farley who said: "It is for me a deep and an abiding pleasure to join in the dedication of your building. The first thought that crossed my mind as I crossed the threshold was that of admiration for this beautiful building situated as it is on the banks of the beautiful Merrimack and away from the toil and turmoil of the city. And the first word that came to my lips was congratulation to you young men and to you, beloved pastor under whose tender guidance our society has reached this point in its success. On such a night as this the memory of the past meets the bright promise of the future and is anticipated the grandeur of your future success.

"In our American civilization today the most potent and cogent preaching is the powerful preaching of example. By your example will the Catholic church of our community be judged. I hope that this institution will continue as it began, a place of social, moral, mental and physical advancement for the Catholic young man.

Mr. James E. Donnelly rendered the "Palms" very effectively at the conclusion of the congratulatory remarks.

The closing remarks were delivered by Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., who received an ovation. Said Fr. Joyce. The object of the Catholic institute for which many of you are members is to make young Americans, very angels of God. To do this we must ever remember our motto. "God and our neighbor." We shall make angelic youths of our young men for we shall unite them to the alter four times a year to partake of the Bread of life, the food of angels. We hope our young men by the good example they give will do good in the community In this work Fr. Dacey and myself were one in heart and mind, what one proposed the other proposed. I congratulate them tonight and I will even work for their best interest. In conclusion, Rev. Fr. Joyce invited all to the bowling game between himself and Mayor Courtney.

After the remarks of Rev. Fr. Joyce the quartet sang Kreutzer's Evening Bells and the exercises ended with the singing of the Te Deum by the entire audience.

After the exercises in the hall an inspection of the building took place and the new bowling alleys were dedicated, Fr. Joyce and Mayor Courtney rolling the first balls along the alleys.

The dedication was entirely successful and will be long remembered by all who had the pleasure of attending it.

PERSONAL.

The engagement is announced of Annette Marie Louise, daughter of Rev. John S. Colby of Marlboro, N. H., to Mr. Holbrook of Keene.

Rev. Dr. Seymour and family will spend Thanksgiving day in Lowell and will depart for Philadelphia on Friday next.

THE CONVENTION

To Nominate Mayor and Alderman Tonight.

A STRONG TICKET WILL SWEEP THE FIELD.

United Action and Good Judgment Necessary.

Tonight the democratic nominating convention will be held in Jackson hall.

In regard to the mayoralty there is little difference of opinion, but on the aldermanic nominations the party will have to exercise good judgment.

Strong men and good democrats must be nominated or defeat will follow. There is no reason why the democrats should not elect the mayor and board of aldermen.

They can do so if they nominate the right men. As a parting word, therefore, THE SUN would suggest that candidates had better not force themselves too strongly upon the convention.

Let the action be spontaneous, for it is only by that means the best judgment of the majority can be secured.

A prominent democrat this afternoon stated that the party has now an excellent opportunity to put up a winning ticket. The only thing necessary to success is to sacrifice individual preferences for the party's interest.

By that means, by united action and harmony the party can have its mayor and aldermen in city hall next year and the tricksters who planned the gerrymander will be left outside the breastworks.

LOCAL NOTES.

Sittings made Thanksgiving day from 9 to 3.30. Freeman, Photo., Old P. O. block.

The new plant of the Massachusetts corporation in Georgia is now assuming definite form and gives promise of being a model of its kind.

The new Reading and Lowell street railway expects to have cars running on Thanksgiving day. It will run the first car over the road between Reading and Lowell some 15 miles. Before many months a ride from Lowell to Boston on the electrics will be possible.

The Merrimack Clothing Co. is showing the latest fall and winter styles in overcoats. The fad seems to be box plate in Kersey black and brown and of the finest finish in workmanship. These goods are from Shuman & Co. which should be enough to satisfy any one that there can be no better goods on the market. If you are thinking of buying you should see their mammoth stock of clothing and furnishing goods. Remember the place opposite city hall.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

A meeting of the common council will be held this evening.

The water board will meet at 8 o'clock tonight.

Solemn Requiem Mass.

A solemn high mass of requiem for the late Rev. Wm. O'Brien of Winchester was sung this morning in St. Michael's church. The altar was draped heavily with mourning. In front of the altar rested a vacant bier surrounded by lighted candles and draped in black. Rev. Wm. O'Brien, pastor, was celebrant of the mass, assisted by Rev. D. J. Gleason, deacon, Rev. John J. Gilday, sub-deacon, Rev. D. P. Scannell, master of ceremonies. Master, Wm. Morrissey censor bearer. The choir of the church under Mr. John Warburton's direction sang Schmidt's mass. At the offertory Miss Mabel Ware feelingly and artistically rendered the "Pie Jesu," and at the close of the burial service, read by the celebrant of the mass, Rest, Spirit Rest, was rendered by a quartet. Within the sanctuary were Rev. Michael O'Brien, Rev. James Gilday of Woburn and Rev. John J. Shaw of North Chelmsford and Rev. M. J. Leonard.

Mr. Goward Writes as Follows:

Mr. Henry S. Courtney, chairman of Ward one democratic caucus, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—I am informed by the morning papers that I have received a nomination by the democratic caucus of Ward one, for councilman.

I wish to say that I am a republican, have always been one and expect to be one as long as the party endures.

It is a fact that my party refuses to honor me with a renomination to the office which I now hold but such a refusal does not make me a democrat and not being a democrat I cannot accept a democratic nomination. Very truly yours,
Nov. 26, 1895. E. T. GOWARD.

Their Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pierce were congratulated last Saturday on the occasion of their silver wedding. Mrs. Pierce received a solid silver dinner set from her husband with other valuable presents from friends.

The Mathews of North Billerica.

The Mathew Temperance Institute of North Billerica is now clear of debt. The members are making many improvements in and about the building owned by the institute.

Dr. Seymour's Farewell.

Rev. Dr. Seymour and family were tendered a farewell reception by their friends last evening and an enjoyable evening was passed, people of all denomination being present.

Lowell Freight.

According to the Nashua correspondent to the Manchester Union 150 cars of freight belonging to Lowell parties are in that city.

The School Board Didn't Meet.

The school board did not meet last evening because no quorum was present.

Marriage Intentions.

The following intentions were recorded at the city clerk's office today:
James McKiernan 26, to Mary Dolan 23.
Daniel Donnelly 23, to Mary A. Morris 26.
Louis Larue 22, to Josephine Langlois 21,

The democratic caucuses were held last night and were largely attended. The result is given below.

WARD ONE.

No Contest in the Choice of Candidates.

It was strange for the voters of old Ward two, now Ward one, to assemble in Jackson hall to hold their caucus. Henry S. Courtney was chairman of the caucus and balloting commenced at 7 o'clock, the polls closing at 9 o'clock.

The balloting resulted as follows:

Delegates—D. J. Donahue, H. S. Courtney, B. J. Callahan, C. H. Burns, F. P. Murphy, G. Grant, J. Hurtubise and W. H. Donahue.

Councilmen—Winston I. Rollins, E. T. Goward, John J. Duffy.

School committee—Peter Gallagher.

Overseer of the poor—R. J. McClusky.

Mr. Goward declines the nomination.

A REMARKABLE CONTEST.

Thomas J. Mulligan Defeats Dr. Daly in the Hottest Caucus Fight.

The voters of new Ward two were treated last night to one of the hottest and closest battles that have ever been waged in the city. Interest all centered in the school committee contest between Dr. Daly and Thomas J. Mulligan, both members of the present school board.

In the heat of the contest no attention was paid whatever to the councilmanic race. On the result of the contest was waged about $1000. Both sides exerted their utmost efforts to bring out a large vote.

All during the evening the Bijou theatre where the caucus was held, was crowded and the long line of voters extended down the stairway to the street. Workers in the interest of each candidate were stationed at various points and it is safe to say that ward two will never witness another such caucus. From 5 o'clock to 10.30 the polls were opened, and during that time 938 votes were cast. Shortly after 10.30, the counting commenced. On the first 100 ballots Mr. Mulligan led by one vote. Then Dr. Daly got a lead of 8 on the next fifty and at the 200 mark it was an even thing. At 300, Mr. Mulligan led by 27, and on the next 50 increased it to 39. Then Dr. Daly commenced to gain and when 650 ballots were counted, Mr. Mulligan held his lead by 15 votes.

The next 100 were evenly divided, each receiving 49.

Then Dr. Daly gained again and when 900 had been counted the vote was a tie. There remained but 38 ballots to be counted and the excitement was intense.

During the count of these 38, the candidates shifted positions at least half a dozen times, first, one taking the lead, and then giving it up to the other. As each ballot was announced there were great shouts. The last five came out straight for Mr. Mulligan and as he appeared to be the nominee his friends cheered again and again. The final count stood: Thomas J. Mulligan, 462; Dr. Daly, 455.

Mr. Thomas Mahoney was nominated for overseer of the poor by acclamation.

In making Mr. Mulligan's nomination unanimous Mr. Daly said. "I congratulate my opponent and move to make his nomination unanimous. The elements were against me for the wise men stay at home on a rainy night."

The following delegates were elected: Michael J. Bruin, Patrick J. O'Brien, William H. Sullivan, Thomas H. Muldoon, James McCarthy, Michael J. Garvey, Patrick H. Barry and John Riley.

The winners in the council contest were Dennis Pendergast, Hugh Maguire and William J. Dunn.

The vote as announced was: Dunn 469, Pendergast 481, Maguire 529, Barry 380, Garvey 408, Higgins 210.

WARD THREE.

A Very Quiet Contest in the New Ward.

There was no interest to speak of in this ward. The officers were:

Chairman, John F. Tully; secretary, John W. Kennedy.

Mayoralty delegates—John F. Tully, John J. Burns, John W. Kennedy, Dennis J. Collins, Jeremiah F. Murphy, John T. Powers, Richard E. Burns, James A. Young.

Common councilmen—Jeremiah E. Murphy, Arthur W. Sherman, Patrick F. Harrahan.

Fred Woodies, who was defeated in the republican caucus by the A. P. A. candidate, received the nomination for school committee, with but slight opposition.

Overseer of the poor—Henry J. Draper.

WARD FOUR.

Voters of New Ward Four Turn Out in Large Numbers.

The Lyon street ward room was the scene of an old time Ward three caucus last night. The voters were out in force to express their preference in the councilmanic contest.

"Joe" Gormley presided and the polls opened at 6 o'clock and closed at 10 o'clock. In the school committee contest there was really no fight at all for Dr. Kelley outdistanced his competitor. The delegates elected to attend the mayoralty convention were: Frank T. O'Neill, John B. Cox, M. J. Markham, James F. Owens, Peter J. Brady, John E. Maguire, James H. Gormley and Edward Rigney.

The vote in the council fight was as follows: James F. Miskella 601, Timothy J. Reynolds 448, Stephen O'Hare 358, William Ashworth 178, Frank M. Fagan 344, John P. Mahoney 250, John J. Roarke 212, Richard J. Welch 137.

School committee—John A. Gately 107, William J. Kelley 714.

Overseers of the poor—John B. Clancey 111, Edward R. Donovan 290, John J. Gilbride 448.

WARD FIVE.

Sullivan, Thornton And O'Hare Are the Winners.

The fight in Ward five was not so hot as was expected. The winners in the council fight were: John E. Sullivan, Chares E. Thornton and John P. O'Hare.

Michael Daly was a close fourth and Jeremiah Tompkins got fifth place. Joseph Donohoe was nominated by acclamation for overseer of the poor, and Hugh Farley had a walk over in the school committee contest.

The Official Vote.

The official figures in the Ward five caucus are as follows:

Common council—Michael Daly 290, John J. Delaney 131, Cornelius E. Dugan 178, John P. O'Hare 351, Thomas Shannon 88, John E. Sullivan 533, Charles E. Thornton 513, Jeremiah Tompkins 254.

School committee—Hugh Farley 470, Simon Cavanaugh 140, William B. Delaney 203.

The delegates elected were: Edward Cullen, Dr. J. P. O'Connor, John R. Condon, William J. Galvin, Michael McCarthy Thomas Cavanaugh Edward Flynn and Dennis S. Murphy.

WARD SIX.

A Contest Over Delegates In Centralville.

The caucus was called to order by Fisher H. Pearson and John H. Nolan was made chairman; Thos. J. Gallagher, secretary.

The whole number of votes cast was 121, and the following delegates were elected: Peter H. Golden 87, Thos. J. Carmody 83, Joseph H. Clark 81, James H. Duffy 77; T. J. Gallagher 76, John H. Nolan 76, Austin F. Conway 75, James Coleman 70. James Tweed received 68 and John C. Burke 51.

The following councilmanic nominations were made without opposition: Wilfred Cordeau, Peter A. Fay, Harris C. Pearson.

School committee—Dr. A. E. Gillard.

Overseer of the poor—Geo. A. Clark.

LIVELY TILT IN WARD SEVEN.

It Took Two Hours to Select a Chairman.

Patrick J. Custy and James A. Ready were candidates for the aldermanic nomination in this ward. The fighting commenced just as soon as James A. Sullivan called to order; Custy's crowd appeared favorable to Andrew Barrett for chairman. Others wanted John Welch and claimed that both candidates had requested him to act as chairman. John F. Murphy said he wanted fair play and advocated the election of Mr. Welch as chairman. It took two hours to settle the matter and Mr. Barrett was chosen chairman and Col. J. H. Carmichael secretary.

The Custy Delegates won out by a vote of 98 to 64, and they are pledged to stand by Mayor Courtney.

The delegates are: P. J. Custy, E. J. Carroll, A. E. Barrett, J. F. Holden, John Riordon, Frank M. Crogan, J. A. Sullivan, J. E. Conway.

Councilmen—Thomas H. Kennedy, Fred M. Prescott, Thomas D. Little.

School committee—John F. O'Brien.

Overseer of the poor—Philip Desmarais.

A SLIM ATTENDANCE.

About Fifty Voters Were Present in Ward Eight.

The caucus here was attended by about fifty voters and all nominations were made by a committee. Here are the candidates selected:

Delegates—M. H. Fletcher, Thomas H. Fox, Joseph H. Breault, Philip P. Connors, Charles W. Whitman, Thomas Griffin, Joseph F. Fitzpatrick, Thomas S. Kelley.

Common councilmen—Oliver C. Libby, John Mahoney, —— Parsons.

School committee—James Howard.

Overseer of poor—Thomas O'Brien.

The delegation was unanimously instructed to vote for William F. Courtney for mayor and Oliver A. Libbey for alderman.

After the caucus the delegation met and organized by the choice of Marcellus H. Fletcher for chairman and Thomas Griffin for secretary.

THE BELVIDERE WARD.

No Contest of Any Kind Occurred in Ward Nine.

Everything passed off quietly here and the polls were closed at 7.15 as it was very evident that little interest was felt in any contest.

The delegates chosen were: Edward D. Boyle, John H. Clark, Paul T. Connell, George W. Gordon, F. X. Alfred Hurtubise, Henry J. McDonald, Frank J. Simonds, Fred C. Weld.

Councilmen—Charles H. Hobson, Fred G. Lundberg, Thomas O'Day.

School committee—Thomas P. Boulger.

Overseer of poor—Hugh McOsker.

SHIPS DELAYED BY FOG IN BOSTON HARBOR.

Buildings Are Blown Down in the West.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—A dense fog accompanied by a heavy fog settled over the harbor today and ships are lying at anchor until it clears. The steamer Whitney for New York, the Bay State for Philadelphia and the Kennebunk for Portland, which were to have sailed last night are still at their wharves waiting for the fog to clear. The steamer Penobscot, which was to have sailed for Portland, is at anchor in that harbor.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 26.—The gale which struck here this morning blew down a number of houses, uprooted trees and did great damage generally.

PUT-IN BAY, O.—The storm here is raging fiercely. Buildings were blown down and ships blown from anchorage. A deck hand on one of the craft was blown overboard and drowned.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 26.—The storm last night caused great damage all over the state. Buildings were unroofed, glass broken and a heavy sea is running in the lake.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 26.—The storm is raging furiously in this state. The North Congregational church at North Columbus, now in process of construction was totally demolished.

Queer Religious Rites.

The little religious colony in Detroit whose members bear the titles of "Israelites" and "Flying Rollers," and whose chief apparent characteristic is their long hair, have been celebrating in a novel manner.

The other night they killed a sheep, spattered its fresh blood over the front door of one of the houses and then stood in a circle and chanted as the sheep was roasted on a spit.

Then the colony emerged on the streets and marched about blowing horns. At 4 o'clock in the morning the entire colony sat down to feast and ate the roasted sheep.

The neighbors said the colony had been celebrating the flying roll feast of passover. There were rivulets of coagulated blood on the front steps and great splashes of blood on the ceiling of the porch, up and down the door panels and on the side of the house near the door, as though dippers full of blood had been thrown at the door.—Chicago Tribune.

Paid In His Own Coin.

Senator Stewart was a day or two ago the victim of an amusing practical joke. The patriarchal champion of silver went into Page's cafe, in Washington, and had luncheon. When the waiter presented the check for 60 cents, Senator Stewart handed him a $10 bill and patiently awaited his change. It was some time in coming, but when it arrived a single glance told the senator there was plenty of it. There were 5 half dollar pieces, 20 quarters and 19 dimes. The prophet of free silver was about to utter an indignant protest, when he caught the eyes of two or three bystanders and noted the twinkle of amusement in them. Then he swept the glittering pile into his big right hand, rammed it down in his trousers pocket and strode out of the room, without leaving a tip for the waiter or a smile for the audience.—Washington Cor. Chicago Times-Herald.

GOVERNMENTAL INCONSISTENCY.

The governor of Texas called a special session of the legislature to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmon's fight, but he said not a word when a vast concourse of people gathered at a public square and burned a negro slowly at the stake. That was one of the most cruel exhibitions that ever took place in this country and the fact that no word of protest has been heard from the governor shows that his pretentions to humane sentiments were all buncombe. The perpetrators of such an outrage should be arrested and punished and if the local authorities fail the state should step in to vindicate the law.

THE Y. M. C. I. BUILDING.

The dedication of the Y. M. C. I. building last night was an event long to be remembered in the history of the growth and progress of the Catholic church in this city.

The church is always engaged in educational work, in the school, in the lyceum, in the temperance society and even in the gymnasium, for in many cases it is found advantageous to combine mental, moral, and physical culture in the same society.

The Catholic church is the great patron of total abstinence societies and of organizations such as the Y. M. C. I., composed of young men who are practical Catholics.

Every day sees some new stigma cast upon the church by the misdeeds of nominal Catholics, viz., those who claim allegiance to the church but who do not perform their religious duties.

But in such a society as the Y. M. C. I. young men are brought up in an atmosphere of religion, in strict conformity to the laws of God and those of the state, to be good Catholics and consequently good and law abiding citizens. To them the church can point as representative of her culture and her teaching.

The institute is to be congratulated upon this step upward and onward and THE SUN extends it a kindly greeting with best wishes for a long and prosperous career in the work of moulding a character already so auspiciously begun.

MILLER THE VICTIM.

The republican convention is over and Joseph Miller is the nominee for mayor.

The A. P. A. order is determined to force him upon the republican voters and the question now is will the old line republicans swallow him?

His vote in the convention was 77 out of 144, but a few more than a majority but of course the farce of making it unanimous was gone through.

Boss Varnum was turned down without a murmur and as if that was not enough one of the speakers in nominating a candidate for alderman gave a heartless thrust at the Boss for having voted against his party during the year.

Such is politics. But a few short months ago the Boss stood as a dictator before the city, now none so poor as to do him reverence.

Mr. Webster wore a smile of satisfaction when the Varnum boom was laid away forever but Varnum is not dead and he is not without friends who will refuse to swallow Miller and the A. P. A. ticket.

As Messrs. Fowler and Chadwick made their way from the hall to find Joe Miller they remarked "where shall we find the victim."

That was a very appropriate epithet to apply at the outstart.

Miller is the victim and this will be fully demonstrated on election day in December.

MAJORITIES REDUCED.

Elections Show the Political Pendulum Has Begun the Backward Swing.

As the first telegraphic flashes of election returns are succeeded by actual figures it is made clear that the backward swing of the political pendulum has begun, says the Philadelphia Record. The phenomenal Republican victory of 1894 marked the topmost limit of reaction. This year, although the Democrats remain dispirited, benumbed and inactive, the Republicans show no added capability of offense. Their majorities have been reduced. Where the Democrats have been beaten in Democratic states, as a rule, they have not deserved to be victorious.

The lesson of the election in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Kentucky is of one tenor. No party can govern the country that is not true to itself. The Democracy can only maintain the confidence of the people by putting aside the huckstering professional leadership with which the party has been cursed, and which has turned its past triumphs into defeats.

The Republican victories of this year, where they have not been the outcome of revolt against a demoralizing Democratic leadership, have been the fruits of apathetic discouragement. The Democrats have simply laid down and let their political opponents walk over them. For this state of things the remedy is reorganization and a leadership that will have both head and heart in it. The movement in this direction cannot begin a day too soon.

TARIFF IS ALL RIGHT.

Business Sentiment of the Country Is Adverse to Change.

Republican organs which loudly proclaim that Republican victory means a renewal of tariff agitation will do well to take counsel with the business men of their party before they proceed farther in so foolish a plan of campaign.

The recent declarations of representative bodies of merchants and manufacturers, deprecating further attempts at tariff tinkering for supposed political ends, are significant.

They mean that the present tariff should stand substantially as it is, subject only to such changes as may be recommended by an unpartisan, carefully chosen national commission.

It is clear that if the Republican majority in the next congress chooses to disregard and defy the business sentiment of the country and engage in needless and costly tariff agitation it will have the power so to act.

But such a course will be to invite a Waterloo defeat for Republicanism all along the line next November.—Boston Globe.

A Stimulus For Democrats.

It is easily possible for the Republicans to gain 6 seats, giving them 51 of the 90 senators and leaving the Democrats with only 33. There seems to be no chance for the Populists to increase their present number of 6, and thus the Republicans may easily have a majority of 10 over both Democrats and Populists in the senate. This prospect will operate as a tremendous stimulus to the Republicans to go in and elect their president next year. But it should also have the effect of arousing the Democrats of the country to put forth every effort to prevent the government of the country from again becoming exclusively Republican, thereby insuring such legislative extravagances and outrages as will even surpass those of the notorious "billion dollar congress," which assembled in December, 1889.—Hartford Times.

Poor Campaign Material.

For campaign purposes the woolen industry is certainly in a very deplorable condition, but it is otherwise doing fairly well. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, an excellent authority, says: "Sales of wool at Boston last week reached the unprecedented amount of 11,914,000 pounds. This does not represent the mills to be in a very depressed state. In fact, even the tariff calamity people say the woolen goods market is in a better position than it has been, and the mills are mostly doing well."—Philadelphia Record.

Have a Good Fighting Chance.

No matter if the Republicans have succeeded to the extent of all that they claim as to the recent election, there is no occasion for us to despair of winning the presidency next year. The Democrats are famous for showing their fighting qualities in the direst extremities. It is peril that brings out our pluck, adversity that makes us unanimous.—Richmond Dispatch.

Democracy Can Win.

Election figures prove that the Democracy is abundantly supplied with the votes to win in 1896, but that the votes must be organized, satisfied and honestly led. Now we know what is before us. We can win if we will.—St. Louis Republic.

It Looks Like Foraker's.

It was recorded the day after election that Governor McKinley "claimed 100,000 majority in Ohio." Whose majority is this, anyhow? In the light of all the testimony so far adduced Mr. Foraker will probably lay claim to it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Yellow Dog to the Front.

The Republican yellow dog will now be more in evidence than ever. Big majorities are apt to send the best men to the rear.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The American Rush

Diseases Caused by Too Much Hard Work and Worry.

They Wear Out the Kidneys.

Why Americans are More Nervous, Anaemic, and Suffer More From Bright's Disease Than Other Nationalities.

RUSH AND WORRY OUR BANE

The Kidneys and Their Clogging Caused by Overwork and Worry

Cure and Cure of Clogged Kidneys.

We are an overworked nation.

We get through a great deal of work. We do more, and work harder and faster than any other nation on earth.

And that is the trouble.

We work too fast, think too fast, eat too fast.

We don't take enough rest.

Nemesis overtakes us and disorders our kidneys. Nemesis the goddess of vengeance. Nature revenges herself if you overtax her.

Why do we get sick in our kidneys?

It's simple enough to explain and to remember.

Our kidneys were made to filter our blood. That is the first thing.

Every drop of blood that passes through our body has to go through these filters and be purified.

All work uses up blood. That is the next thing.

Blood is fuel. If we work one organ (brain, stomach, arm, leg,) more than another, blood rushes to the hard-worked organ, to nourish it and strengthen it.

Too much work of any kind uses too much blood and strains the kidneys so much that it hurts them. That is the next thing.

Strained kidneys are sick kidneys. Sick kidneys don't filter the blood. And this is the end of it.

To be well we must live naturally—to get well when sick take Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

Living naturally doesn't mean doing without comfort, but not overdoing anything—not overworking, not over-thinking, not over-worrying, not over-eating, —not overstraining our kidneys.

It is so simple to remember that if our blood is kept pure we can keep almost perfectly well; so easy to take care of ourselves if we want to.

But when we are sick it is well to know of something that will make us well.

The cure for all kidney and blood troubles is Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

They are a simple and perfect cure for Bright's disease, diabetes, nephritis, cold in the kidneys, for the symptoms of sleeplessness, backache, sideache, nervousness, frequent thirst, chilly sensations, evil forebodings, puffiness and swelling of the eyelids, feet and ankles.

By nourishing and gently toning up the kidneys and curing them of all that would clog them and prevent them from filtering, Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will cure all disorders of impure and poisonous blood, such as rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, anæmia, thinness of the blood, muscular weakness, tiredness, depression of spirits, shortness of breath, etc.

A few doses will relieve. A few boxes will cure.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills are made principally from the root of the asparagus by a special process which extracts all the virtue in the root. They are perfectly harmless, purely vegetable, and are strongly recommended by physicians of high standing as well as by all who have used them.

Sold by all druggists or mailed prepaid for 50 cents a box.

HE GAVE IT UP.

Witherby Thought He Knew, but He Was Mistaken.

"Give me time."

As Witherby spoke he looked beseechingly at his wife, and rising rapidly from his chair hurriedly paced the floor, his brow contracted, his whole attitude indicating that he was endeavoring to grasp some difficult mental problem.

"Time!" echoed his wife scornfully. "Do you mean to tell me that you have so soon forgotten what this day means to me—a day that stands out in my life, compared with which all other days are puny and insignificant—that it has slipped from your memory as a mere nothing, a day that has not even risen enough above the dead level of all other days to impress itself in the slightest manner on your mind? But then," she continued, with a slight touch of scorn, even while the hot tears forced themselves into her eyes, "I might have known that such would be the case. You are, after all, like all other men. Feverishly excited over an event at the time, your enthusiasm knows no bounds, your"—

"My dear," said Witherby, suddenly pausing in his walk, while a look of exultation came over his face as he turned affectionately and clasped his wife's hand in his, "say no more. Forgive me. I've been so occupied with business that it went away from me entirely. What a fool I was not to remember that this is the day on which we were married."

"Married!" almost shrieked his wife as she rose and faced him, while a look of deep pity came into her eyes. "I believe, sir, that we were married in June, and here it is autumn. Will you try again?"

Witherby sat down and buried his face in his hands.

"Never!" he replied brokenly.

"Then," said his wife, seating herself back in her chair with a hard, set look in her face, "I shall never expect anything from you again. I shall never dare to think that you have one touch of romance left in you. But I must confess," she added resignedly, "that it comes as a great shock to me, my dear, to think that you have so soon forgotten that this is the anniversary of the day I made my first century run."—Brooklyn Life.

Got No Increase.

The following new story comes from the west: Mr. L., a good natured German, was the proprietor of a considerable clothing business in a country town. He had in his employ one John S., whom he had advanced from cashboy to head clerk and who had been for many years an attache of the store. Since his promotion John had several times asked for a raise in his salary, and each time his request had been granted. One morning John again appeared at the old merchant's desk with another request for an increase of $10 per month. "Vy, Shon," said Mr. L., "I dink I bays you pooty vell already. Vot for I bays you any more?"

"Well," replied John confidently, "I am your principal help here. I have worked you up to a large trade. I know every detail of the business, and indeed I think you could not get along without me."

"Is that so!" exclaimed the German. "Mein Goddl Shon, vot vood I do subbose you vas to die?"

"Well," hesitated John, "I suppose you would have to get along without me then."

The "old man" took several whiffs from his big pipe and said nothing. At last he gravely remarked. "Vell, Shon, I guess you petter gonsider yourself dead."—Business Journal.

Too Much For Him.

It was seen at an early stage of the conflagration that the large bookstore of William Binding was doomed. The flames had started in the basement and had made headway clear through the building in the dead of night before the first alarm was turned in. The watchman had been careless and off his post. No less than 10,000 volumes of fiction, travel and essays, etc., were being consumed by the fiery element.

The proprietor was soon on the spot, trembling with excitement, but he could do nothing. He importuned the firemen to save his stock, but they told him it was impossible.

"We're lucky if we can put out the fire at all," they said. Mr. Binding was in anguish.

Suddenly he broke through the cordon established by the police and rushed toward the burning pile.

"I haven't been bringing books out for 20 years," he yelled, "to fail at it now."

But he perished in the flames.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO
How to Cure Yourself While Using It.
The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Curo," is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking "Baco-Curo," it will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. "Baco-Curo" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke. Sold by all druggists, with our ironclad guarantee, at $1.00 per box, three boxes, (thirty days' treatment). $2.50 and guaranteed cure, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Booklet and proofs free. 5 O'CLOCK EXTRA

A BIG SURPRISE

Is Expected in the President's Message.

And Their Probable Recognition as Belligerents.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—President Cleveland's friends in Washington and elsewhere with whom he discusses public questions continue to assert that the forthcoming message to congress will contain a chapter on the foreign policy of the administration that will be a great surprise to the public, according to The Sun's Washington correspondent.

The leading topics to be discussed in this chapter will be the Venezuelan boundary dispute and the Cuban revolution. The surprise, it is said, will be occasioned by the president's announcement that with regard to these questions the administration has taken advanced ground in the direction of such vigorous assertion of American rights as to amount to a complete reversal of its foreign policy up to the time Mr. Olney became secretary of state.

It is said that the surprise prepared for the public is nothing less than an expression of the president's hearty sympathy with the efforts of the Cubans to obtain freedom, and a further intimation that, in the opinion of the administration, they should be recognized as belligerents.

Cleveland's Change of Heart.

More than a month ago the statement was published, on the alleged authority of Don M. Dickinson, that the president would anticipate his annual message with the announcement of the reversal of his former foreign policy, as developed on the house treatment of the Hawaiian question, and his conversion to a vigorous American policy, inclining even toward jingoism.

At the time this report was in circulation a member of the cabinet pronounced it to be incorrect so far as it stated that the announcement of the new policy would be made public before the appearance of the annual message to congress. In that message, and not before, the cabinet minister said, the president would proclaim his change of heart, and now the statement is repeated that the vigorous Americanism of the new policy will be a surprise to the public, amounting to a sensation.

The terms of Secretary Olney's midsummer "ultimatum" to Great Britain on the Venezuelan question, and the recommendation for the reception of the Cuban revolutionists as belligerents, will be made public simultaneously.

Another Lynching Scheduled.

ABBEVILLE, S. C., Nov. 26.—Notice has been received that a mob will attack the jail here for the purpose of lynching John Mitchell and Richard Wash, both colored, who are under arrest for the murder of Norissa Bagwell, a white woman. She was killed Thursday evening on the public highway near her home and her body was taken to a deserted house and buried. Wash says that he was with Miss Bagwell at 3 o'clock Friday morning, and asserts that she cut her throat, and that before doing so she requested him to burn her body in the house. The story is improbable.

Not Given His Freedom.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—David F. Hannigan, who on Thursday last was acquitted of the killing of Solomon H. Mann on the ground of insanity, was brought before Justice Ingraham in oyer and terminer yesterday. The court denied the motion of counsel for defense to discharge Hannigan, and committed him to the state asylum for the insane at Poughkeepsie, "in strict adherence to the spirit of the law."

Drew Their Little Fives.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Clarendon hall was crowded yesterday with housesmith strikers, who came for the benefit stipend of $5 a week allowed them by the union. It is on an average as much as they get during the winter months. Seven hundred men drew $5 each. The present situation is one of expectancy. There may be a general strike or there may be a general lockout, all depending on circumstances.

Indebtedness Made Good.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 26. — Graham F. Blandy of New York secured a verdict for $14,648.09 in the supreme court yesterday in a suit against William H. Howell of this city, for payment of a note for $11,588.58 indebtedness, which was incurred in speculation in railroad stocks on the New York Stock Exchange in 1891.

Insurance Man Wants Damages.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—J. C. Bergstresser, proprietor The Insurance World, was held in $2000 bail here yesterday on a charge of criminal libel. The article complained of charged J. A. Conroy with running a "fake" insurance company. The defendant admitted the authorship and publication of the article.

A Loafer's Crime.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—Bushrod Kelch for several years has done nothing but loiter about saloons. A few weeks ago his wife obtained a divorce from him. Yesterday afternoon he shot her and then shot himself. Mrs. Kelch died almost immediately. He will probably recover.

No Interest After Jan. 1.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The treasury department yesterday gave notice that United States 6 per cent bonds of the face value of $3,680,699, and commonly known as "currency 6s," become due on Jan. 1, 1896, and that interest on said bonds will cease on that day.

Left Forty-Four Grandchildren.

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Johanna Carney died here yesterday at the age of 96 years. She was born in Ireland, but had lived in Salem over 40 years. She leaves two sons, 44 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Tramps' Misfortune.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. — While six tramps were sleeping yesterday by the boiler at the electrical power house, a valve blew out, scalding them badly. Two of the men have died.

AN AWFUL CRASH

Many Persons Killed By Powder Explosion.

OF EIGHTY EMPLOYES OF CARTRIDGE FACTORY

Few Escape Injury And 17 Were Killed.

BARCELONA, Nov. 26.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday at Palma, capital of the island of Majorca, 130 miles south of this city. Eighty persons, most of whom were women, were employed in emptying old cartridges outside the walls of the town, when one of the cartridges exploded in some unknown manner. There was a large quantity of powder that had been taken out of the cartridges lying about over a large area, and this was ignited by the discharge of the cartridge. A tremendous explosion followed. The bodies of 17 dead have been found, but it is feared that many more were killed. Forty persons were seriously wounded and some of them will die.

Many of the dead and wounded were found at considerable distances from the scene of the accident, they having been hurled bodily through the air by the force of the explosion.

Some of the dead were terribly burned and mangled, so much so in a number of cases that identification will be extremely difficult, if not impossible. An official inquiry into the cause of the disaster will be held.

Religion Cuts a Figure.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—The case of the Canada Revue against Archbishop Faber for $50,000 damages, through putting the paper under the ban of the church, came up for judgment yesterday. Judges Tait and Taschereau, both Catholics, decided that the bishop had the right to condemn any paper that spoke contrary to the teachings of the Catholic church. Judge Archibald, a Protestant, dissented, and gave the Canada Revue $10,000, on the grounds that the bishop's action was an unjustifiable interference. The decision was on an appeal taken by the Canada Revue from the adverse judgment of Judge Doherty in the superior court. The appeal is accordingly dismissed, there being 3 to 1 against it.

Freedom For Smugglers.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 26.—The appeals made by a number of liquor sellers against convictions imposed by local magistrates for smuggling were sustained by the supreme court yesterday, the indictments being quashed. This involves the collapse of the whole litigation against smuggling, it being felt that the government cannot keep certain persons in custody while others are at liberty. It is possible that the board of revenue will now intervene and impose fines in all cases.

Resignations Refused.

LIMA, Nov. 26.—President Pierola has refused to accept the resignations of the members of the cabinet, the prefect and the sub-prefect, tendered yesterday, unless the senate confirms the motion of censure recently passed by the deputies, and he has sent a message to this effect to the senate.

New Loan Not Needed.

ROME, Nov. 26.—In the chamber of deputies yesterday the minister of the treasury announced that the surplus would be 1,270,000 lire this year, and that he expected a surplus next year of 8,020,000 lire, without a new loan. He added that the position of the treasury was improving.

Bachmann's Queer Business.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Max Bachmann, who is wanted in Burlington, Vt., on a similar charge, was arrested yesterday, charged with swindling insurance companies by renting houses in this city and causing their destruction by fire, thereby securing the insurance.

Princess Maud's Birthday.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—This is the birthday of Princess Maud of Wales, recently betrothed to Prince Charles of Denmark. She was born in 1869. The prince was born in 1872. On account of the recent betrothal, special festivities marked this birthday.

Twelve Sailors Probably Drowned.

HALIFAX, Nov. 26.—Advices from Harbor Grace, N. F., say it is feared the 22-ton schooner Victory, Robert Bradbury, master and owner, has been lost with all on board. There were 12 persons on board the Victory.

Copyright Negotiations.

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—The Canadian Copyright association had a conference yesterday with Dominion government officials, and submitted a draft of the copyright act, which parliament will be asked to ratify.

Palmer Beats Plimmer.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Before the National Sporting club last night "Peddler" Palmer defeated Billy Plimmer in the contest for the 112-pound championship of the world, the battle lasting 14 rounds.

Denmark Drawn Into It.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 26. — The Spanish government has notified the authorities of Denmark that Danish ships have recently assisted the Cuban rebels with arms and ammunition.

Minus Her Propeller.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Nov. 26.—The British steamer Halifax City, which left London on Nov. 24 for St. John, N. B., arrived here yesterday, having lost a propeller blade.

Ship Lillian Disabled.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 26.—British ship Lillian Robbins, from New York, June 4, for Shanghai and Hong Kong, has been towed into Saigon in a badly crippled condition.

Can't Move the Thames.

HALIFAX, Nov. 26.—Tugs have been unsuccessful in trying to float the steamer Thames, ashore at Pettyes ledges, and she is being stripped.

A Fearful Record.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—During the past month there were 236 cholera deaths in Volhynia and 52 in Kieff.

The Greatest Showman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A few days ago it was stated, and denied, that the Sells Bros. had consolidated with the Barnum & Bailey show. The real deal was the consolidation of the Sells Bros. and Forepaugh shows. This enables Mr. Bailey to control three of the greatest shows in the world. The terms of the deal have not been made public.

TALES OF THE TIMES.

Murder or Mercy?—A Story of the Great War.

"Was it murder?"

No; it was mercy.

The questioner commanded a company at Williamsburg, the first battle of magnitude fought by General McClellan. The next day the captain's regiment was visited by McClellan. While in line "Little Mac" rode to their front and warmly thanked the men for their superb conduct. His command was in the brigade of "Hancock the Superb." It was Hancock's first battle as a brigade commander; it was there that he established his reputation as a commander and a fighter; there that he endeared himself to his men; there that he was marked for promotion and a higher command.

After the battle the captain went over the field and assisted in caring for the wounded and gave directions for the burial of the slain. One young man, an associate in school, a lifelong friend, was shot through the body—mortally wounded. His sufferings were intense. He knew he had to die. His captain and comrades knew he must soon pass away. He beckoned the captain to come close to him. The officer, sorely afflicted at the loss of his friend, and in great agony over his sufferings, knelt by his side, took his hand and listened to the messages he wanted sent to the dear ones at home.

"Do you think I am going to die, captain? Don't be afraid to tell me."

"I am afraid you are, old friend."

"I know I must die. I wish I might die now, this instant. Only God and myself know how I am suffering. Come closer; let me whisper to you. Captain, in God's name, help me out of the world—free me from this torture. Do not be shocked; it would be no crime. It is the last favor I have to ask. It is the greatest favor I ever asked of any one. If you love me—and I know you do—help me out of the world. Do it now; do it any way. This pain is unbearable. It will make only a few hours' difference. Help me, captain! Oh, help me!"

"I can't do it, my dear boy—I can't do it. I know it would be a mercy. I know it would be a kindness. I know it would not be a sin, but how can I do it?" The captain gently pressed the poor boy's hand, said goodby and started away. The young fellow's groans drew him back. Again he knelt at the sufferer's side. With his eyes and his lips he begged again and again for "help." Once more the officer started away. Again he looked back at his comrade. Then, as if he had nerved himself for action, he reached into a pocket, took from it a box and from that morphine enough to produce the final sleep. His courage was weakening. He stood looking at the soldier, offered a silent prayer, and then sprang to his side, gave him the medicine and a drink from his canteen.

"Thank you, captain—thank you! God bless you—God bless you! A thousand times I thank you! I have not been a very bad boy, have I?" The captain could not answer. "But I wish you would pray for me. Pray just a little. God knows I am not afraid to die. That's what I want most to do, but pray for me, please, captain." The officer was not a praying man, but there, on that battlefield, surrounded by dead and dying, he prayed for his comrade and asked the Almighty to forgive him if he had done wrong in hastening the soldier's approach to the pearly gates and golden streets at the end of the last march.

It was not long until the pain ceased. It was not long until there was another soldier to bury—another recruit for heaven.

In telling the story the captain said: "I have never felt that I did wrong. There are people possibly who would call it murder. It was mercy. Strange as it may seem, good came to me from the scenes I witnessed that evening, for the part I took in the quiet tragedy. How? I'll tell you. Not a morning or an evening, sick or well, has come and gone since that sorrowful event on the field of Williamsburg, nearly 34 years ago, without seeing me on my knees in prayer. Don't smile when I tell you that nothing but extreme sickness or death will interfere with that custom."

Isn't there a sermon in that remark?

It is a sorrowful story, this of the dying soldier, but it is one phase of army life in those years from 1861 to 1865. Will the reader be shocked when I say that there were hundreds of instances where poor fellows begged for such help and were helped in both the Union and Confederate armies? Many pleaded in vain. It required more courage to extend such help than it did to charge double shotted cannon.

"Was it murder?"

Certainly not.

At the battle of Gravelly Run, a few days before Appomattox, our brigade received hard treatment at the hands of McGowen's division. The lines of battle were close together. Both sides fought desperately. A number of Confederates charged around on the right of one of our regiments. Some of them were wounded, some of them made their escape by dodging behind trees and pushing back to their line, but one, a giant in size and a Cæsar in bravery, the equal of any man I ever saw, thrust at officers and men with his bayonet after he was ordered to surrender; clubbed his musket and hit two or three of the boys who were loading and firing at the enemy in front, and then made a bold dash at Lieutenant Kelly, who warded off the blow with his sword and called for assistance in securing the Confederate. At that moment Lieutenant Frank A. Waller, seeing the danger of the officer and the dauntless courage of the assailant, struck him a blow and felled him to the ground. He recovered almost instantly, seized his gun and made a lunge at Waller, barely missing him, and then gathered himself up as if for another blow, when Waller seized a sergeant's musket and called to him again to surrender. "No! Never!" he defiantly replied and made a fourth rush at Waller. A question had to be settled. The Confederate soldier or the Union officer had to suffer. Both did their best. A bayonet pierced the body of McGowen's man.

"Was it murder?"

No; it was war.—Colonel J. A. Watrous in Chicago Times-Herald.

Strange News From Kentucky.

The famous "dead man's whirlpool" and Salt river were perfectly dry up to the morning of the earthquake. They are now overflowing with cool, clear water, which seems to bubble up from a thousand different springs in the river bed. The natives, with scarcely a single exception, think that all this means that the world will surely come to an end at a very early date. Not one of them can be found who will go within 100 yards of the river. People from all over the state are coming daily to witness the strange sights.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WORST NOT TOLD

Christian Nations Ignorant of Worst Atrocities.

THE KURDS START A RELIGIOUS WAR

For Exterminating the Armenians in Toto.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A dispatch to The Daily News from Constantinople, giving a general resume of the situation, declares that the recent massacres put the earlier outrages of Sassoun and Moosh entirely in the background.

If either England, France or Russia should publish the stories reported officially by their cool-headed consuls, all Europe would stand aghast at the proof, surprised to think such things possible. Wherever these consuls have investigated matters, they have found that the accusation that the Armenians provoked the riots is false.

Turkish Intimidation.

A correspondent of The Telegraph announces that strenuous efforts are being made throughout the Armenian provinces to compel clergymen and prominent persons, by threats, to sign addresses to the sultan, declaring that the Armenians provoked all the outbreaks. It is claimed that the one recently from Erzroom was procured in this fashion.

Kurds' One Object.

The correspondent of The Daily News at Odessa says that a private dispatch from the peninsula of Anatolia announces that the Kurds in several districts have renounced obedience to the Turkish empire and declared a religious war, the extinction of the Armenians being the avowed object.

The Sultan's Duplicity.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The following letter has been received in this city from a reliable correspondent in Constantinople:

The Turks have induced some of the subsidized European papers to speak of these crimes as Armenian outbreaks, etc. But the ambassadors have full reports, which they ought to publish, that refute all this, and show conclusively that the sultan, within a day or two after he signed the reform scheme, ordered the Armenians to be massacred in order that there should be no question of an Armenian majority in any of the provinces. The people flew upon the spoil, and so did not execute the sultan's wish to the full. But the loss of life has been awful. Moreover, there seems no way of preventing more of the sort.

It is the most awful crime of the century, because it is so persistently falsified by its authors. Everywhere the story is the same; a deliberate preparation, and then a story sent to Europe that the Armenians attacked the inoffensive Turks and were reduced to order after a few had been killed.

Worse times are in store for us. Europe is divided in counsel, and the Turks finding that nothing is done for this crime, will go on to extremities.

The highest Moslem court has declared that the sultan cannot lawfully be restrained in the exercise of his will, since he is the representative of God for the whole world.

From 15,000 to 20,000 people have been cruelly slaughtered during the last month, and in consequence no less than 100,000 persons, heretofore dependent on them for their daily food, are now in want. The coming winter will witness a vast amount of suffering. It is not alone at Sassoun, but all over the land where these occurrences have taken place.

The Reeves-Day Case.

HARTFORD, Nov. 26.—The case of Mrs. Amelia E. Reeves, wife of G. S. Reeves, the theatrical manager, and Actor Samuel Day, who are charged with adultery by Reeves, came up before Judge Bill yesterday. Adjudgment was asked for by the defense until the husband of the accused woman should produce documentary evidence that she is his wife, and it was granted. The bail was reduced from $1000 to $500 each, but no bondsmen could be obtained and the couple spent the night in cells.

A November Blizzard.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 26.—Telegraph and telephone wires to the west are practically worthless on account of the gale which is sweeping over the middle states. The wind in many localities has reached a velocity of from 50 to 75 miles an hour. Rain and hail accompany the gale in most instances. The wires have been blown down on all the different routes.

Tornado at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 26.—A big gale swept over this city last night, the wind reaching a velocity of 70 miles an hour. Signs, awnings and chimneys were blown down, plate-glass windows were broken and a great amount of damage done. Telegraph and telephone wires were blown down and outside communication badly crippled.

Set Fire For Spite.

BOSTON, Nov. 26. — Richard Sennott, who has been lodging for the past few days at 344 Hanover street, was arrested last night on a charge of setting fire to the house. The occupants of the building are Alexander McNeil and family, and Sennott had a disagreement over an alleged debt. Sennott confessed to setting the fire.

Father O'Grady In Court.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26.—Father Dominick O'Grady, who shot Mary Gilmartin, was brought into court yesterday from the hospital on a cot, to be tried as to his sanity. The prosecutors claim his condition is the result of persistent shamming. The jury have not yet been completed.

Burglars' Booty Unearthed.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The police of station 3 found over $700 worth of stolen property in a pawnshop yesterday, which, it is believed, was stolen by Walter L. Gray and his companion, who were arrested in Lynn.

Gold Galore.

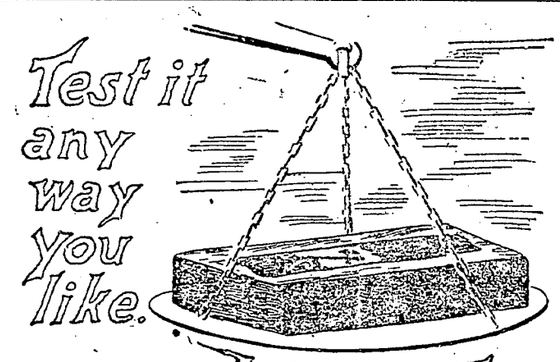

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 26.—Vancouver, the terminus of the Canadian Pacific, has come to the front as a rich gold field. One quartz vein is said to be the largest one on record, being not less than 80 feet wide.

Investigation Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. — Complaints have been received at the treasury department that the steamer Shackamaxon, used in carrying immigrants between Ellis island and the barge office in New York, is wholly unfit for that purpose, and the matter will be investigated.

Bethlehem Company's Big Contract.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 26.—The Bethlehem Iron company was yesterday informed by cable of the award to the company by the Russian government of a contract for the manufacture of nearly 1200 tons of armor plate. This is one of the largest contracts for armor plate awarded by any nation in recent years. The work is to completed by the close of next fall, and will be begun as soon as the necessary plans and details arrive from Russia. The company was in competition with 14 other armor plate manufacturers in this country and Europe.

An Important Decision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—In the case of George Goode, a letter carrier in Roxbury (Boston), convicted of embezzling money from letters, the supreme court decided that a decoy letter addressed to a fictitious person is a letter within the meaning of the law when it bears the semblance of a letter, and that it is not necessary in such cases that a carrier shall take the letter from a regular letter box in order to render him criminally liable in opening it.

Unjustly Disqualified.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Bernard J. Wefers of Lawrence, the crack sprinter, will contest the order of disqualification passed upon him by the A. A. U. Wefers was disqualified on a charge that he accepted cash prizes in an athletic meeting at Lawrence. Wefers will carry the matter into the New York courts. He says he has affidavits to prove that the prizes when given him at Lawrence were returned to the committee in charge of the meet.

Gets Off Easily.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—By direction of the state department, United States Consul Burke, at Chihuahua, Mex., has been investigating the case of MacStewart, who was sentenced to death for murder. The consul reports that the sentence will undoubtedly be commuted to imprisonment for 20 years, so this may be reduced to seven years by good behavior.

May Sue For Damages.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26. — Captain Wheelton, of the schooner Joseph W. Foster, the release of which was yesterday ordered by Secretary Carlisle, arrived here last night from Lewes, Del. He left the schooner at Lewes in charge of the government officials, pending the determination of the question whether or not suit shall be brought for alleged illegal detention.

Hancock's Remains to Be Removed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—It has been decided to remove the body of Major General Winfield S. Hancock to Arlington cemetery from Morristown, Pa., where it has rested since 1886. It is planned to have the burial in Arlington take place next spring, when a monument to General Hancock, on one of the public squares in Washington, will be dedicated.

Hill on the Lecture Platform.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 26.—Senator David B. Hill opened his course of lectures here today. A course of 10 lectures has been arranged, the subjects being "Liberty" and "Old Landmarks." The course will close at Chicago on Dec. 6.

Took to the Tracks.

CONCORD, Mass., Nov. 26. — William Bonning, the reformatory prisoner, who escaped Sunday, was brought here yesterday afternoon, he having been captured by the police of Arlington while walking the tracks.

Seeking Further Information.

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 26.—At a meeting of the committee in charge of the police investigation, last evening, it was decided to hold another public hearing at the call of the chairman.

IT'S JOE MILLER

For Mayor on the Republican Ticket.

ACCOUNT OF VARNUM'S SEVERE TURN DOWN.

A Committee Designates Miller the Victim.

The A. P. A. convention last night nominated its candidate for mayor and labelled its action "Republican."

Joseph Miller's friends had the organization of the caucuses and ran the meetings to suit themselves so that most of the delegations were secured for the Jonah of last year.

The convention was held in the small hall in Runel's block and it was barely big enough to hold the delegation, with a few of their friends.

Those who wished to look on could do so only by looking in at the door where a large gathering vainly sought admission.

By all the republican papers of course the convention will be considered harmonious; it will be referred to as a sort of love feast in which Varnum and Miller and their respective friends had but one object in view, namely, the good of the party.

It was 7.30 before the delegates got into the hall and then commenced a hustle and a bustle with the friends of respective candidates.

What excited most interest before the convention came to order was the distribution of an Australian ballot bearing the names of Varnum and Miller.

This was undoubtedly prepared by the advisory board of the A. P. A. which knows but little of the Australian ballot or its requirements.

Where this ballot is used it is not distributed to the crowd but the Millerites made the innovation.

Louis Kileski read the call at 8.20.

Samuel Young moved that Col. Chadwick be temporary chairman. This was voted and Frank E. Dunbar was made chairman and Arthur Staples secretary.

The committee on credentials appointed was:

T. B. Stevenson, Geo. F. Bower, Marcus T. Pierce, H. P. Goodell, John Wilkson, A. H. Cluer, J. G. Hill, Geo. L. Fowler, Abbott Lawrence.

The committee reported 144 delegates entitled to vote.

Lawyer Qua was the first to break the silence and as he arose a murmur went over the crowd and "Varnum" was whispered among the delegates. "I arise to nominate a candidate for mayor," said Mr. Qua. "He is known to every delegate of this convention and to almost every citizen in Lowell personally. The eyes of the people are turned this year as never before toward municipal reform. The long deadlock when teachers, policemen, and firemen were unpaid, the other difficulties, the report of the commission, have all called forcible attention to reform. The people want no more of trading or dickering, and look for a man to be at the head of the ticket who has honor and integrity."

Mr. Qua has the habit of putting his foot in things generally and he never succeeded better in so doing than last night. He wound up his speech by nominating Daniel H. Varnum of "ward two."

"Ward six," "Ward six" came from various Varnum delegates. "Oh? yes, pardon me, Mr. Varnum of Ward six," said Mr. Qua, and then came the applause from the Ward six delegates.

I, therefore, move that Daniel H. Varnum of Ward two be nominated for mayor.

Then somebody reminded Mr. Qua that the city had been redistricted and he said Mr. Varnum was from Ward six, but not half the delegates seemed to credit the statement.

On motion of Col. Chadwick an informal ballot was taken for mayor.

After some parliamentary dickering the result of the ballot was declared to be: Whole number 144; Miller 75; Varnum 49; Lawton 18; blank, 2.

A motion was made to make the ballot formal but it was defeated and on motion of Col. Chadwick a formal ballot was taken with this result: Whole number, 144; necessary, 73; Miller, 77; Varnum, 44; Lawton, 20; W. P. Burbank, 2; S. W. Stevens, 1.

Mr. Miller was declared the nominee and great thumping and clapping followed.

Mr. Qua got up again and said that the delegates from Ward two (Ward six) were just as loyal to the nominee of the convention as those of any other ward because he had been nominated before, and is man against whom not a word of reproach can be uttered.

Then the nomination was made unanimous and the Miller men alone clapped.

It will be noticed that a change of three votes would have reduced Miller's vote below a majority.

The aldermanic ticket placed in the field by acclamation is as follows:

Ward one—George H. Tryder.
Ward two—Ira E. Shaw.
Ward three—James A. Pevey.
Ward four—Byron W. Johnson.
Ward five—Alfred Leblanc.
Ward six—John H. McAlvin.
Ward seven—Charles E. Howe.
Ward eight—John C. Wilson.
Ward nine—Fred J. Flemings.

Col. Chadwick and George L. Fowler were appointed a committee to bring Joseph Miller before the meeting.

As they left the hall Mr. Fowler was heard to inquire "where they could find the victim."

This caused a laugh and a few democrats who heard it thought the remark very significant.

In a short time the committee returned with the hero of the occasion and the meeting again applauded.

Mr. Miller was presented and spoke substantially as follows:

"I heartily thank you for your kind nomination. To say that it was unexpected would be untrue, because I did expect it. A year ago the people nominated Joseph Miller for mayor. They did it the other night at the caucuses.

"I accept the nomination, and if elected will do all I can to give the city a business administration. If you will give me a board of aldermen who mean business, who are not in for your friendship, with no pulling and hauling, I can make a success of it. I told you a year ago that if the republican party would stand together it could elect the ticket. I say the same thing now. If you will stand together, this thing can be done.

"I have spent no more money to get the nomination this year than I spent last—none at all. I have bought no votes, and made no promises. If I go to City Hall I go unfettered by sect or party. I will go for the whole people. Let us get together and repair the breaches, and carry the city for the party. Gentlemen, I leave myself in your hands." The convention then adjourned.

THE BRIDEGROOM

Took Sick and Ceremony Was Private.

THE BRIDE AN HEIRESS TO MILLIONS

And Her Husband Also Very Wealthy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The marriage of Miss Edith Rockefeller to Harold F. McCormick did not take place in church today, as had been intended. On Thursday last Mr. McCormick was taken with a severe cold, resulting in an attack of pleurisy. His physicians advised that he would be incurring serious risks of pneumonia to leave the room. For this reason the wedding ceremony was performed at noon at Mr. McCormick's apartments, the immediate members of the families only being present.

EDITH ROCKEFELLER.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Faunce performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. John Hall.

Miss Alta Rockefeller, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Emma Rockefeller, Miss Carrie McCormick of Chicago, Miss Scotland and Miss Caldwell of New York, and Miss Frances Adams of Boston. Cyrus McCormick and Emmons Blaine, the little nephews of the groom, attended as pages. Stanley McCormick, brother of the groom, attended him as best man.

HAROLD MCCORMICK.

A genuine love match is the alliance of Miss Edith Rockefeller and Harold Fowler McCormick, and these two young people are quite as unassuming and modest as any two lovers in all the land. Miss Rockefeller will some day inherit from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000. The fortune which young McCormick can build up may never equal this amount, but he already has enough to keep the wolf from the door.

Harold McCormick is the son of a self-made man. His father, Cyrus McCormick, was known as the "Reaper King." He invented a patent reaper, and when he died, in 1884, left a big fortune. His sons have been carrying on the business ever since. One of Harold's sisters married Emmons Blaine, who died a few years ago. Harold's income is about $100,000 a year. He is 25 years of age.

Harold graduated at Princeton with much credit to himself. Since then he has been devoting his attention to the reaper business.

Miss Edith Rockefeller is 24 years of age. She would hardly be called handsome or even pretty. She is rather short of stature, not being much over five feet in height. She is a blond, but not of a decided type.

For fashionable society she does not care at all. Although she has lived in a mansion near Fifth avenue for several years she is almost unknown in New York. Before the announcement of her engagement her name was rarely seen in the newspapers.

Religiously Inclined and Scholarly.

In fact, society never saw her at all. She busied herself in hunting up poor families and planning to become a missionary to foreign countries. This girlish ambition gives the key to her whole life. Brought up in a distinctly religious atmosphere, she has continued to regard the pleasures of fashionable societies as vain and hollow.

Miss Edith can converse almost as well in French and German as she can in English, and she knows a good deal of Spanish and Italian. She even learned the Japanese language when she was preparing for the missionary work she intended to do.

She understands how to manage the affairs of a big house, and can read Horace in the original. Her musical education is very thorough. Her leaving home to be a wife breaks up the somewhat famous home orchestra. Her father plays the violin; his married daughter, Mrs. Strong, plays the second violin when she is at home; Edith plays the 'cello, and Alta the piano.

Edith has not neglected her body while training her mind. She is an expert swimmer, can ride a spirited horse, delights in skating and rides a bicycle a great deal. Altogether she is quite an athletic young woman.

Mr. McCormick and his bride will take a wedding tour of four months, and Egypt will be one of the countries where they will spend the most time.

When they return they will go to Council Bluffs, Ia. There they will make their home, and Mr. McCormick will become a partner with his brothers in the great business of the McCormick Reaper company which was built up by his father.

The Progressive Age.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Within the next year the Illinois Central and the Chicago Northern Pacific railroads will be run by electricity. It is possible that the latter road will use electricity on its entire system, while the Illinois Central will begin with its suburban service only. Stockholders ratified this decision at a meeting in this city today.

Suffragists Lose a Champion.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Ellen Battelle Dietrick, the well-known woman suffragist and newspaper writer, died yesterday from a shock following a surgical operation. Mrs. Dietrick was born in 1847 at Clarksburg, Va. Her family were New England people.

Bought by New York Capitalist.

GIRARD, Ala., Nov. 26.—The Mobile and Girard railroad was sold at auction here yesterday to Julian T. Davies of New York for $1,000,000, under a decree of foreclosure. Mr. Davies purchased the road for himself. The line is 130 miles long.

ARE THEY REASONABLE?

The extraordinary newspaper claims made by most clothiers? Have their offerings the actual value claimed for them? We think not. We still pin our faith to truthful statements and honest business methods. We take no stock in the saying "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush"; that a single sale in hand today, made by misrepresentation, is worth the many sales in the bush of the future. We are after those in the future every time.

Those who know the value of clothing can, of course, rely upon their own judgment when buying. But the majority are not posted, and their only safeguard when buying is to deal with a house with an established reputation for honorable dealing. That's us. Everything we advertise we have, and our guarantee to refund money on every sale that is not satisfactory goes with every purchase.

That's the reason for our constantly growing business.

MISS WILLARD REPELS BIGOTRY

BY REFUSING THE REQUEST OF BOSTON WOMEN

To Exclude Priests From Religious Services—All in One Cause.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—A communication was read at the annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. yesterday from Miss Frances Willard in reply to the protest of the Boston union against the resolution adopted by the national body inviting Catholic and Hebrew women to send fraternal delegates to the W. C. T. U. convention. Miss Willard, after referring to the fact that the resolution was adopted by a practically unanimous vote in the national convention, states, in reply to another protest against allowing Catholic priests to take part in the religious exercises, that this custom is not a new one by any means.

Miss Willard then says: "Not one word of protest from any one of our 10,000 local unions has ever been made until now, and I freely admit that if anyone must be called to account for these manifestations of appreciation between two of the most influential temperance societies of the republic, you have directed your protest where it belongs, for I am responsible in the sight of God and man."

She further says that as a patriot she is proud to fraternize with a temperance society of Catholics "that will hiss a Catholic senate who defends the Tammany ring and applaud a Protestant police commissioner who denounces that bulwark of municipal brutality."

Cuban Story Via New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A Cuban messenger, who arrived at the Cuban junta yesterday direct from the seat of the revolution, reported that on Nov. 10 a severe battle took place. The news has been withheld from newspapers. The battle occurred at Tagunsco. The Spanish forces consisted of 10,000 men, while the Cubans had but about 4000. For 36 hours the opposing forces fought, but the Spaniards were unable to drive the Cubans back. Finally, General Antonio Maceo of the Cuban army arrived with a force of 3500 men. With the aid of this re-enforcement the Spaniards were quickly routed. General Aldive is reported to have been killed in the battle, and the total number of killed and wounded is placed at 600. General Gomez secured 700 rifles and a large amount of ammunition. This is believed to be the heaviest battle of the revolution.

Shea Wants a New Trial.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 26.—In the supreme court yesterday a motion was made for a new trial in behalf of James Shea, convicted of murdering his wife. The court gave the defendant until April 1 to file evidence on which to argue for a new trial.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

How Merchants May Contribute Toward Expanding Gold Reserve.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Gimbel Bros., dry goods dealers of this city, shipped $100,000 in gold coin to the secretary of the treasury today under the recent agreement of Secretary Carlisle to pay express charges both on the gold received and the greenbacks sent in return. They are the first merchants to take advantage of the concession offered by the secretary of the treasury.

One of the members of the firm said: "We have done this simply to encourage our fellow merchants throughout the country to do likewise. The country's credit is not now in danger, but if it were, a similar action on the part of the thousands of prosperous retail dealers in the big cities would expand the gold reserve to such an extent that there would be no further financial scare. Speaking for our own firm, I can say that we are willing to exchange every dollar in gold we receive for an equal amount in greenbacks."

Well Deserved.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. — Friends and admirers of Eugene Field, the late "poet of the children," gave an authors' benefit today for the benefit of the family of the poet. Among those who contributed to the entertainment by reading from their own works were H. B. Fuller, Miss Harriet Monroe, Hamlin Garland, Opie Read, Miss Alice French (Octave Thanet), Mrs. Mary H. Catherwood, Mrs. L. W. Bates, Miss Lillian Boll and Frank B. Harris.

Many Mistaken.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—The coroner's inquest on the Central Viaduct street car disaster was resumed yesterday. J. R. Campbell testified positively that no red light was shown over the gates. On the other hand, several other witnesses swore that the red lights were displayed at both sides of the draw, according to the rules. William Hagen testified that he saw a lantern thrown from the bridge into the river an hour after the accident occurred.

Depends on the Aldermen.

BUFFALO, Nov. 26.—Unless the aldermen of this city today gives a franchise to the Niagara Falls Power company to bring the electric power into this city, a mass meeting will be called of the bodies of business men who are impatient at the delay in making this contract, which has been caused by the common council's desire to impose a tax on the power company, and the refusal of the latter to pay it.

The Irrepressible Breckenridge.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 26.—Colonel W. P. Breckenridge of Lexington will make the race for congress in the Seventh district next year. Breckenridge stumped the district for the Democratic state ticket.
